15 Escape Death as Explosion Damages Plant

BLAST TEARS OUT 50 FEET OF BUILDING

Air Compressor Blows Up at Mansfield Structural Firm; Loss Set at $3,000.

BREAKS 1,000 GLASS PANES

100-Pound Flywheel Hurled 300 Feet; Clears Up Report of Mystery Explosion.

Fifteen employes of the Mansfield Structural and Erecting company, 441 Park avenue east, escaped death yesterday when an air compressor exploded, destroying machinery and ripping open the side of the building. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

James T. Flaherty, president and general manager of the firm, said the explosion tore out nearly 50 feet of the west side of the building and shattered approximately 1,000 panes of glass.

Compressor Blown to Bits.

The compressor, blown to bits by the explosion, was scattered about the plant. Several workmen nearby missed being struck by the huge pieces of steel that flew through the air. One workman on the second floor escaped injury when a 100-pound piece of steel shot through the floor and up through the roof. The flywheel of the machine, weighing 100 pounds, was found 300 feet from the building.

The report of the explosion by company officials cleared up the mysterious blast that shook the east side of Mansfield at 12:30 p. m. yesterday. Police and fire officials were at a loss at the time to explain the explosion which shook buildings as far as the downtown section. Many thought there had been an earth tremor.

Ignites in Air Tank.

Flaherty explained today that an investigation had disclosed that gas formed by oil used in the compressor had ignited in the air tank to cause the explosion. He said the tank carried 90 pounds pressure. There was no fire.

The damage is fully covered by insurance, he said, and plans are under way for repairing the building. A new compressor has been ordered from Cleveland.

L.S.U. Band Won't Toot For South's Sugar Bowl Game

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—The 208-piece, colorful, expertly drilled band, once known as the "pride and joy" of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, may do no more tooting for Louisiana State University.

The band has been "dismissed" by Director Castro Carazo, hired by Long to "make the band the best in the land," following demands of bandsmen for extra expense money to play at the Sugar Bowl football game in New Orleans New Year day.

A few hours after members of the band, accustomed to traveling in lavish style in the days when Huey Long was its sponsor, had asked $10 each in addition to traveling expenses, the student body read this notice on the bulletin board:

"All members of the L. S. U. Concert band will turn in their uniforms and other issued band equipment beginning tomorrow at 9 a. m. Band is dismissed."

Whether the dismissal was temporary or permanent was not clear.

DEMS REBEL AT WAGE LAW BILL

Northern Democrats Displace Southern Solons to Head House Opposition.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A small group of rebellious northern Democrats displaced southern colleagues today at the spearhead of house opposition to the administration's wage-hour bill.

Four members from north of the Mason-Dixon line proffered substitute measures which would impose flexible wage-hour standards on firms engaged in interstate commerce.

The house may vote on them late today or tomorrow after deciding whether to place administration of the program under an independent five-man board or one labor department official.

Although the proposed substitutes differed in some details, none would permit any wage or hour differentials between the north and the south. Some of their proponents admitted frank-

Escaped Inmate Captured By Officers at Bucyrus.

"Riding the rods" landed an escaped inmate of the Mansfield reformatory back in the institution today.

The fugitive, Raymond Wiley, 27, was returned from Bucyrus by reformatory guards today just after he had finished a jail sentence for train riding.

He was arrested by a New York Central railroad patrolman on Dec. 6, for "riding the robs" and was fined $5 and costs which he had to serve out. Crawford county Sheriff A. H. French said Wiley was identified as an escaped reformatory inmate through fingerprints.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said that additional time would be imposed on Wiley's sentence as penalty for his escape.

Highway Covered With Eggs, Chickens as Truck Overturns

Eggs, chickens and ducks were scattered over the highway and countryside four miles north of Mansfield on route '2 late last night after a poultry truck skidded on the ice-covered shoulder of the road and overturned.

Forty-two cases of eggs were smashed in the accident, nearly covering the highway, State Highway Patrolman R. L. Doebel reported. The broken eggs froze and formed a thin sheet of ice on the road making it hazardous for traffic, Doebel said.

Nearly all the crates were opened in the crash, with chickens and ducks running over the highway and into nearby fields. Most of them were caught later.

The truck carried 52 cases of eggs, with less than 10 being saved, Doebel said. The load weighed about four ton and was valued at about $1,000 by Jake Zimmer of Cleveland, owner and driver of the truck.

Doebel reported that in going around a curve, the truck skidded on ice along the highway and overturned. The accident occurred about 11:30 p. m. With Zimmer in the truck was Nathan Gurman, also of Cleveland. Both escaped injury.

EX-INMATES GO ON TRIAL TODAY

Parolees Fight to Escape Death Chair In Kidnaping of Retired Minister.

Two former Mansfield reformatory inmates went on trial for their lives today in Huntington, W. Va., accused of murder in the kidnaping of Dr. James I. Seder, one time missionary and prohibition worker.

They were Orville Adkins and John Travis, both 24, who were paroled from the reformatory last July 1, after serving 18 months. They had been sentenced from Pickaway county.

A former prison convict, Arnett A. Booth, 46 their elleged accomplice in the kidnaping of the aged retired minister, was sentenced to death in the kidnaping

As the trial of Adkins and Travis opened today, the Associated Press reported, their attorney, Jesse Hammock, appealed for a life sentence for the two youths instead of the electric chair.

"Two wrongs don't make a right," he said.

The state, however, asked the death penalty for both youths.

Hammock said he would prove

URGES 'BONUS' ON SALES TAX

Ohio Senator Would Give $3 For $100 In Cancelled Stamps.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Sen Emerson Campbell, Democrat, thinks he has something there—meaninb the bill he introduced in the senate last night to tighten up sales tax collections.

It would provide refunds of $3 for each $100 batch of sales tax stamp receipts brought in by customers, the theory being it would encourage them to demand after every purchase, the receipts that offer the only means of enforcing collection.

One hundred dollars worth of stamps would represent approximately $3,333 in purchases.

COUNTY FACES DILEMMA OVER RELIEF FUNDS

Has $4,000 to Meet $21,000 In Bills as It Awaits Aid From State.

ASSEMBLY OK'S LOAN FUND

Measure One of Three Before Legislature, Sets Up Money to Help Counties.

With the state legislature and Gov. Martin L. Davey expected to approve three stop-gap relief measures within a few days, Richland county relief officials today marked time while the county faces what Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck termed "the worst financial situation in years over the relief problem"

November relief bills amounting to approximately $10,000 are due, and the December load is expected to reach $11,000 or more, Beck said, while the county has only $4,000 with which to meet the indebtedness.

Bond Surplus Used Up.

"Our relief bond surplus has been used and there is prospect of little help until the legislature sets up a program for relief," Beck declared.

The county, however, will receive its monthly allocation of about $4,000 for relief bond purposes within the next week, which will still leave a $3,000 indebtedness from November. The bond fund distributions, made from the [illegible] the county "out of the red" in its summer and fall relief program, the deputy auditor explained.

Seek to Stem Relief Pleas.

City and county officials meanwhile are attempting to stem the flood of requests for relief which continue to pour in.

Relief headquarters at 28 Orange street, the county commissioners and Mayor Earl A. McFarland report scores of applications for direct aid as the result of the industrial slump and the cold weather. Miss Mildred Armstrong, county welfare supervisor, said every effort is being made to help all families in actual want.

At Columbus, Gov. Davey is expected to sign a bill this afternoon which will make available a loan fund of $1,000,000 for counties needing help. The loans would be paid from future relief allotments at the rate of 10 per cent a month. The measure was passed last night by the senate by a vote of 30 to 0.

Another bill ready to go to the senate would authorize county commissioners to issue short term notes against $2,500,000 in anticipated tax revenue surpluses. The surpluses would include the amounts collected in delinquent levies over the regular tax charge, officials said.

A third measure, chiefly af-

Draws Fine For Taking Trio on Plane Ride While Drunk.

AYDEN, N. C.—(UP)—Bill Michaelson, New York aviator, today paid a $10 fine and costs in recorder's court for "drunken driving of an airplane."

The New Yorker, who took three friends on a wild aerial ride over Ayden, also received a 60-day road gang sentence, suspended on condition he pay for damages to an electric light pole he "sideswiped" and refrain from operating a plane in this vicinity for two years.

After doing breath-taking dives and spins, Michaelson climaxed his flight by nipping the electric pole and crashing into a pine tree within the city limits.

Bomb Victim

—Central Press Photo.

J. Hall Paxton, second secretary of the United States embassy at Nanking, was one of those wounded by Japanese bombs that sunk the U. S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtse river. Word to this effect came from Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet. It was first reported that Paxton was "safe ashore." He was struck by shrapnel but his condition was not considered serious.

CALM KILLER ELUDES POLICE

Enters Fashionable Apartment, Shoots Divorcee, Hits Girl Companion With Gun.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A youth who shot an attractive divorcee and attempted to assault her comely companion was described by police today as one of the calmest killers they ever had known.

The dead woman, Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, 38, was found last night in the bedroom of her fashionable Camp Hill home after Miss Mary Griffin, 22, a beauty shop operator, broke free from the bonds the intruder used to tie her to the bed.

The man, Miss Griffin related, confronted them with a pistol as they entered the Carpenter home. After taking all their money about $2—she said he drove them before him upstairs.

"He got a length of rope from the kitchen and ordered Mrs. Carpenter to tie my hands," Miss Griffin added.

Mrs. Carpenter was killed when she screamed wildly as the man, about 20, slugged Miss Griffin with the butt of his gun.

The youth then continued his efforts to attack the younger woman, but she struggled fiercely and he finally left her alone.

Detective Charles Eiler, of Montgomery county, said the slayer brought a bottle of antiseptic and cleansed the wounds on Miss Griffin's head. She was not seriously injured.

The young woman said she heard the shower running in the adjoining bathroom as the youth took a bath before leaving the house.

Tomorrow Night's Big Night For Mansfield Gridiron Fans

Football will hold sway in the ballroom at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday night.

Grid players, coaches, officials—yes, and managers, trainers and fans, too—will be there. Only the goal posts and yard stripes will be missing.

The occasion is The News-Journal banquet for the Mansfield high school Tygers, and a record-breaking turnout will be on hand.

This year's banquet will be something like a homecoming for the principal speaker, Wilburn F. (Pete) Henry, W. & J. athletic director. It was right here in Mansfield where the former All-American won his first spurs in the sport.

Henry will be following in the footsteps of Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State and Coach Bill Edwards of Western Reserve as principal speaker.

Paul W. Williams, manager-secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who also did a little football playing in his time, will serve in the capacity of toastmaster.

Another speaker at the testimonial dinner will be J. Y. Clinton, a big-time football referee, whose assignments have included Army-Navy and Rose Bowl games. There will be brief talks by industrial leaders, coaches, players and guests, from the N. C. O. conference and Mid-State league, Ray

REFUSES TO REMOVE SHIPS IN WAR ZONE

Fleet to Stay In China, Says Admiral as Vessels Hunt Panay Survivors.

JAPS THEN CANCEL EDICT

Tokyo Gets New Formal Protest From U. S.; Japan Sets Up New China Government.

SHANGHAI—(UP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commanding the United States fleet in China, declared emphatically today that the United States would ignore any suggestion that it remove its ships for safety, and that the navy would stay as long as is necessary to protect American life and property.

A Japanese navy spokesman had said previously that the United States and Britain had been warned it would be advisable to withdraw their ships for safety's sake. He said it was "probable" that the United States gunboat Oahu, delegated to bring most of the survivors down river to Shanghai, was coming here in response to the warning.

Sought Withdrawal.

Later through the Domei news agency, correspondents were asked to withdraw the statement and kill all reference to it.

Then Admiral Yarnell in a personal statement, denied the Japanese assertion that the warning was given to him.

"It would not have been approved if it had been made," Yarnell said. "Vessels of the United States navy now in Chinese waters will remain there for the protection of United States nationals as long as such [illegible].

"The U. S. S. [illegible] of the U. S. S. Panay to Shanghai, as no other vessel is available. She will return to her station in the Yangtse in the course of time."

The warning was given as the Japanese government delivered a note of apology to the American embassy at Tokyo and as American, British and Japanese warships worked in concert to rescue survivors of a Japanese airplane attack on four United States vessels including the gunboat Panay.

Disregard Warning.

Japan Promises "It Won't Happen Again."

TOKYO—(AP)—The gist of President Roosevelt's memorandum demanding full satisfaction for the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay was delivered today to Emperor Hirohito, one of the highest government officials disclosed.

It was reported the memorandum was received quietly.

The formal delivery of the protest was preceded by a diplomatic note to the United States which, in effect, met beforehand the major points of President Roosevelt's demands.

The high government source said the prompt delivery of the demands to the emperor itself best illustrated the attitude of the Japanese government regarding the attack on the Panay.

"It shows the extent of Japan's eagerness to face the music squarely," he said.

Official and unofficial sentiment—the latter including even personal expressions toward Americans from the Japanese man in the street—seemed to indicate a readiness to accept the responsibility and to make all possible amends.

This unofficial attitude brought strange scenes in Tokyo streets and public places where Americans met the Japanese public.

The Japanese stopped Americans in their rounds, removing their hats and gravely expressing their sorrow for the incident. The fact that most of the Americans failed to understand was no deterrent.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota sent to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew the note which

1. Expressed apologies and regrets:
2. Promised indemnification;
3. Stated measures to prevent a recurrence of the incident already had been taken.

Grew received from Washington a statement to present to the Japanese government. Its contents were not disclosed but it was said to be in line with President Roosevelt's memorandum.

The statement from Washington and the foreign office note virtually coincided.

President Roosevelt's memorandum had asked that the Japanese government consider for presentation to the government of the United tSates full expressions of regret and proffer of full compensation and methods guaranteeing against a repetition of any similar attack.

Little Flower Club Hears Christmas, Travel Papers

Mrs. James Ehalt, 67 Brinkerhoff avenue, was hostess last night to members of the Little Flower Study club when Mrs. Thomas McDermott read a paper on the origin and the observance of Christmas in various countries. Miss Hazel Underwood described her trip around the world.

Christmas was first celebrated on Dec. 25 in Rome, but some countries still have their Christmas on dates from Dec. 6 till sometime in January. In Porto Rico it continues with religious plays and celebrations till Easter. St. Nicolas, known as the first spirit of Christmas, was a bishop who went about on Christmas eve to determine the behavior of the children. In Bethlehem, the Chapel of the Nativity is a scene of deeply religious activity, while in Italy each home has a small manger with figures of the virgin mother, the babe, Joseph and the shepherds.

Holland has her Christmas on Dec. 5 and 6, and England's is quite similar to that of the United States, excepting that the head of the house presents the gifts to each member of the household. Spain has no gift exchange, but has feasts and celebrations. In Norway all Christmas preparations must be finished by Dec. 21, and the day before Christmas is spent visiting with friends and relatives. A hospitable custom in Norway is to keep a light burning all night, showing welcome to travelers.

France has a gift exchange for the children on Christmas, and for adults on New Year's. In Germany the gifts are handmade. Each home has a tree, and sometimes each child has his own tree. Belgium has Christmas on Dec. 6 with St. Nicolas riding through town on a white pony.

The Christmas tree came into use in the 16th century, symbolizing the Tree of Life bearing Christ's gifts to us. In 1846 Christmas cards were first used. They were the size of calling cards, and hand tinted, Mrs. McDermott told members.

The club then listened to a description of her trip around the world by Miss Hazel Underwood. Places, people and customs were described. Miss Underwood also showed some articles brought back from the various countries she had visited.

The members had a gift exchange, after which the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. John Daley, Mrs. Pavelka, Miss Marie Hecht and Mrs. F. Gillig.

The annual Christmas party for the children of Legion and auxiliary members will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Legion Home. There will be a Santa Claus for the distribution of gifts and a program. Mrs. Walter Beckley is in charge.

After the business session there was community singing of Christmas songs, a Christmas exchange, bridge, and the making of nut cups to be used by the ex-service men at the home in Chillicothe Christmas.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 10 at the Legion home.

The carolers were: Audrey Anglin, Charlotte Paste, Catherine Wood, Virginia Davis and Mary Jean Wolff as the madonna. Hostesses for the affair were: Mrs. B. C. Davison. Mrs. Dan Wolff, Mrs. C. E. Stephenson, and Mrs. John C. Hicks. Miss Ruth Culbertson will be hostess to the group Jan. 10.

16,125 SEE MAX OIL UP RUSTY GUNS

Referee Stops Contest After Thomas Had Been Floored Six Times In Eighth.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Methodical Max Schmeling, as deliberate as a farmer blasting stumps from a field, detonated one charge of right hand dynamite after another on Harry Thomas' chin last night to remove the Minnesota boy from the road to the heavyweight title.

A crowd of 16,125 paid $74,109.22 to see Max oil up his rusty ring weapons on a practice target, and roared its approval when Referee Artie Donovan humanely stopped the fight near the end of the eighth round. Thomas had been floored six times.

MAX SCHMELING

Reassured of the potency of his right hand, after 18 months of inaction, Max will leave on the Europa tomorrow to spend Christmas at home in Germany. He will fight Ben Foord of South Africa in Hamburg Jan 30 in a second "prep" match. Desiring a third tune-up before meeting Joe Louis for the title in June, Schmeling conferred with Promoter Mike Jacobs today regarding an opponent for a Miami match in March.

"Thomas was a tough boy to hit and gave me some trouble until I struck my stride," Max said. "I needed a fight like that because I wanted to make sure my fists still carried the sting that knocked out Joe Louis in 1936."

Thomas, a former college football player and professional baseball catcher, took three of the first four rounds on the United Press score sheet He belted the German's head and body with wild rights and lefts from the opening bell, but Max managed to get in an uppercut in the first stanza that, Thomas later said, hurt.

THE GERMAN threw his first hard right in the second round, and it landed flush on the Minnesota farm boy's chin, stunning him momentarily

Thomas came back strong for the third, rushing Max almost off his feet with a two-fisted attack He rained punches to body and head to win the round A jolting left hook was Harry's margin in the fourth.

In the fifth Schmeling got his sights trained, and three times he staggered Harry with right hooks to the jaw, but he fought back gamely and staged a late flurry to hold the German even.

In the sixth Max landed a dozen short, jolting rights that turned Thomas' legs to rubber With his awkward defense gone. Harry was an open target, and Schmeling continued to dress him down for the kill in the seventh A hard right to the jaw had the Minnesotan on one knee as the bell ended the round. It was the first time he had been off his feet in 72 professional fights.

As they came out for the fateful eighth. Schmeling exploded another right to the chin that sent Thomas swaying to both knees but he was up chasing Max before the count reached two Another chopping right dropped him a second time, and again he was up fast. He got up from the canvas twice more. but after the fifth straight knockdown he only managed to stagger to his feet His gameness might have carried him through the round—there was only six seconds left—but Referee Donovan mercifully stopped the slaughter.

IN HIS dressing room the Minnesota fighter was asked why he did not take a nine count and allow his head to clear before he got off the canvas each time

"I didn't even know I was down until I was getting back on my feet, and saw Schmeling in a neutral corner," he said "I'll know better next time and I'll fight him a lot differently if I ever get him again"

Packs Armory For Nolan's 'Can Show'

Record Crowd Sees Mephisto, Becker In Draw; Kasoboski Wins Over Blake.

THE largest crowd ever to witness a Quality club wrestling show, turned out to support Promoter Tim Nolan's "can show" last night in the local Armory. Approximately 200 women and children paid their admission with cans of fruit or vegetables, which will be turned over to the "Three Muster Cheers" to help furnish Christmas baskets for Mansfield's needy families.

Promoter Nolan also announced the "can show" would be in effect for next Monday night's show.

Becker Is Tough.

The feature attraction of the evening was the appearance of the Great Mephisto, twice holder of the world's light heavyweight wrestling crown. That Mephisto is a worthy holder of the title there is no room for doubt, as he displayed the cleverest repertoire of grips, and unloosed himself with ease from most of the holds of his opponent, George Becker. But the crafty German lad from New York was not totally outdone, as the final verdict revealed, as he held the brilliant Mephisto to a draw.

Mephisto won the first fall of the match after about 17 minutes of the cleverest grappling Mansfield fans have been privileged to witness. The Great One twisted from a head lock and raised the German lad high above his head, only to let him drop upon the canvas on his "kopf" and smothered Becker before he could move a muscle.

Not to be outdone, Becker returned for the second stanza full of head locks of his own, which he applied to the Mephisto with such gusto that the ex-champ was counted out in less than 15 minutes.

Mephisto had all the best of the last round up until the surprising finish. The battle, which up until this time had been the "cleanest ever," suddenly began to get rough and tumble, and Becker proved he could take it, too. Mephisto attempted to heave Becker from the ring, but the clever Teuton held on for dear life, and when the ex-champ gave a mighty heave, Becker retaliated with a powerful tug, and both wrestlers toppled from the arena and were counted out by Referee Clarence Miller.

The semi-final attraction was awarded to Babe Kasoboski of Toronto when Bobby Blake of Columbus went beserk and had to be disqualified by Mr Miller.

Kasoboski had taken the initial fall with a hammerlock in about 13 minutes and he applied it with such force that Blake was plenty tough when he returned for the next setto. Blake slammed the Babe about the ring so hard and often that in about 10 minutes he was practically out. Then Blake broke him over his knee and smothered him The Canadian lad's back was injured by the "break" and in the first minute of the deciding fall Blake jumped the Babe with both feet, used his fists, knees and all other unlawful members until Referee Miller was forced to halt the onslaught and disqualify Blake.

Provides Comedy.

Joe Magyar, the Hungarian light heavyweight, defeated the veteran Joe Wheeler of Cleveland in the opening bout Wheeler supplied most of the comedy of the evening, but Magyar, after 18 minutes, took Wheeler by the heels, spun him around and around and folded his legs onto his chest and rocked him for the count —By CARL GRAHAM

TYGER BANQUET FILM SETTLES GRID PUZZLES

Questionable Plays To Be Cleared Up At Dinner At Mansfield-Leland Hotel Wednesday.

FOOTBALL followers will find plenty of meat for radiator reminiscence this winter in the film depicting the highlights of outstanding 1937 college games to be shown in conjunction with the "Victory Dinner" to be tendered the Mansfield high squad by The News-Journal at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday night.

The film is a miniature version of the familiar newsreel of grid shots. It includes sound effects and running commentary on the action.

There will be enough excitement in the film, which required the services of 30 camera crews, even though it takes but 15 minutes to run off, to raise a football fanatic's temperature to the boiling point on the coldest night.

Clears Up Suspicion.

The film clears Frank Stapulis, Pittsburgh back, of the suspicion that he pulled a forward fumble on Fordham The picture shows clearly that the ball was knocked out of his grasp by his impact with a Ram tackler and that his arms didn't move.

Marshall Goldberg's end run for the Pitt touchdown that would have broken the scoreless tie if it hadn't been disallowed also is caught by the camera's eye, but the holding that nullified it is not discernible. Joe Woitkoski's 80-yard punt, which took the heart out of the Panther, is, however, very much in evidence

The most spectacular occurrence preserved for posterity on the narrow strip of celluloid is Andy Puplis's sixty-two-yard dash for the only six-point tally chalked up in the course of Notre Dame's 7-0 victory over Northwestern

Clint Frank is depicted in the process of accounting for Yale's lone marker while the Elis were going down to 13-6 defeat before Harvard. Both Crimson scores—the first on a long, beautifully-executed pass by Frank Foley to Don Daughters. and the second on a line plunge by Foley at the end of an eighty-yard march—also are pictured.

Other notable scenes are Al Wilson imitating the Statue of Liberty in the Yale-Army struggle, Jim Craig diving across the last stripe for the Cadet touchdown that beat Navy and Bud Holland. star colored end of Cornell, ripping of fone of his big gains against Penn

Other Films on Program.

Included in the motion picture program at the banquet will be Frantland Rice's Sportlight "Pigskin Progress"; "Forward Passes." interview with nationally known coaches, and "Pigskin Capers," a football cartoon.

The pictures will augment the speaking program including Wilbur F (Pete) Henry. J Y Clinton and others.

Sports, Elks Win Inaugural City Class A League Tilts

Yuncker Club Edges Westinghouse, 30 to 28, While Lodge Club Decisions Ling's Five, 34 to 32; Small Crowd Sees Openers.

By CHARLES MARTIN

YUNCKER SPORTS and the Elks won the opening games in the City Class A basketball league race last night on the Mansfield Senior high hardwood. Only a small crowd was on hand to witness the smooth performances of the four clubs as they inaugurated the 1937-38 season.

Yuncker's team, one of the pre-season favorites to annex the title relinquished by Dominion Electric, copped the feature attraction by edging a surprising Westinghouse Electric quintet, 30 to 28, while the purple and white uniformed Elks combine came through with a 34 to 32 decision over the Ira D. Ling's Canzols.

Vern Jones' Westies, underdogs against the sharpshooting Sports, displayed a brilliant passing game to force their opponents to the limit.

Tied Four Times.

The lead changed hands three times and the score was deadlocked on four occasions.

The Yunckers spurted in the opening minutes and secured a commanding 11 to 4 lead before the Westies began hitting with regularity. Led by Bob Shade, the Westinghouse soon overtook the favorites and grabbed a lead they held until late in the second half. The Westies were ahead 14 to 13 at the half.

It was lanky Tom Farrell, Yuncker's center, who tallied the deciding points in the last two minutes. After Bob Bogantz, erstwhile Ontario star, broke the ice with a bucket to shove his team ahead, Farrell scored four points in rapid succession. But still the losers were not disheartened.

Steve Voelker. veteran pivot man, put his club back in the running with three points and Westinghouse was trailing 30 to 28 with a minute to go. The Sportsmen secured the ball and stalled to the finish.

Farrell dropped in 13 points to lead both teams in individual scoring, while Bob Shade paced the losers with nine. Bogantz, making his debut with the Yuncker club, tallied seven. Not a substitution was made during either 15-minute half.

Morgan Leads Elks.

In the opening game the Elks, led by Noel Morgan, former Mansfield high star, took the lead in the early stages and were never headed. Several times the Canzols climbed within a point or two of the advantage, but were unable to overtake the winners.

The fiercely-fought melee established the two aggregations as dangerous scoring combines.

After the Canzols grabbed a 4 to 2 advantage in the opening minutes, the Elks, with the youthful Morgan supplying the spark, soon shot in the lead. At the halfway mark they held a 20 to 13 advantage.

John Schuster paced the losers with 12 points, while Gene Brandon trailed Morgan with nine Howard Patterson, playing his first City league game, added six to the Canzols' cause

SLASHES QUOTA

U. S. Limits Tin Plate Scrap Exports to 25 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The state department's munitions control board has reduced to 25 per cent of production, the amount of tin plate scrap that may be exported from the United States during 1938.

Producers of the metal were allowed to export up to 100 per cent of production during this calendar year, but only about 5 per cent of the total output of 260,000 tons actually was shipped abroad.

The state department explained that the reduction in export allotments was caused by anticipated lower production next year.

Thus far all exports of tin plate scrap from the United States have gone to Japan.

LONDON BUSES TO BE CLOCKED

Plan Would Enable Officials to Deal With Traffic Jams Immediately.

LONDON — (UP) — An experiment never before tried in the world, which is designed to give the London Transport board a "picture" of London's moving buses, is to be started shortly.

If successful, the experiment will mean that eventually the movements of all the buses will be recorded automatically on dials at the board's headquarters, enabling officials to deal with traffic jams instantly.

Recording systems already operate for the underground and the trams—worked from the signaling system for the trains, and from contact with the trolley for the trams.

Engineers trying to devise a system for the buses were up against the fact that they do not make contact with any particular point, so an entirely new idea had to be worked out.

The buses will carry on the roof a coil of wire through which will pass an alternating current in the coin on the roof will induce a current in the fixed wire. Amplified and transmitted by wire to the central office, it will record the passing of the bus on a clock face.

The running cost of the Dionne quintuplets' nursery is $18,000 a year.

CHINA STRIKES POPULAR NOTE IN PROPAGANDA

Japanese Use Generalities Steeped In Theory But Fall Behind Foes.

TIENTSIN — (U.P.) — Handsome Kiyoshi Katsuki, the general who commanded Japanese forces in North China until succeeded by the blunt and forthright Hisaichi Terauchi, finished telling about his habit of singing in a loud voice to intensify his martial spirit and turned to the question of propaganda.

"We think," he said, "that the Chinese are not such good soldiers as the Japanese, but we acknowledge their superiority at propaganda."

Propaganda played a big part in the Sino-Japanese hostilities right from the start. Each side said it had been wronged at Lukouchiao, the incident which started it all. Each announced it was acting in self-defense. Each said it had nothing to gain but was fighting for the principles involved.

The Chinese and Japanese both have propaganda machines, but the Chinese, as Katsuki said, seem better at it.

Not Always Effective.

Japanese propagandists for years have been extolling the virtues of Japanese culture, of Japanese flower arrangements, of the tea ceremony, the "samurai" spirit. Some foreigners are converted; others are unimpressed.

The Chinese smiles at you and you like him.

The Far East abounds in intense personal convictions.

A Britisher or American is kicked by a Japanese soldier in Harbin and he carries up and down the China coast a violent hatred for all things Japanese.

Another might be offended by the odors and squalor of China, might not grow weary of the racketeering, the constant "squeeze" for money and the callousness toward human suffering, and he might hate everything Chinese.

Those things, of course, have nothing to do with the worthiness of international arguments. Nevertheless, they carry weight.

A lover of China—perhaps he has a particularly charming No. 1 boy—thinks the Japanese can do no good. He can overlook the Tungchow massacre and the killings caused by Chinese bombs in Shanghai and rave at the actions of Japanese aviators over Nanking and Canton.

The foreigner who likes Japan—he may merely have had an interesting evening in Tokyo or Osaka with an intriguing geisha—will tell you that China would be better off under Japanese rule.

GRAND ESTATE OF BONAPARTE IN RUINS NOW

Splendor Is Gone as Historic Home Goes on Sale Under Court Order.

BORDENTOWN, N. J.—(U.P.)—Point Breeze, the country estate that was home to Joseph Bonaparte, Comte de Survilliers and former king of Naples and of Spain, during 20 years of his exile, has been sold under the auctioneer's hammer.

Little remains on the delapidated estate to identify it as the American home of Napoleon's brother. A beautiful artificial lake once dotted with swans and pleasure craft is a dry, weed-filled depression, remnants of the lake house crumbling at one edge.

The lake house was built by Joseph for his daughter, the Princess Zenaide, and nearby is the entrance to a subterranean passage which he built to protect her from bad weather on her frequent visits to her father's home, of which there is no trace. The stone-lined passage now is clogged by debris and earth 20 feet from its entrance.

Detroyed by Fire in 1820.

Joseph's first home was destroyed by fire in 1820, but there remains no trace today of the manor house he built to replace it. The only house at Point Breeze now is a mansion built 80 years ago and remodeled in 1912 by Harris Hammond, son of the late mining engineer, John Hays Hammond.

Bonaparte brought the 1,000-acre estate for $10,000 shortly after his flight to Philadelphia with his secretary and nine servants following his brother's crushing defeat at Waterloo.

Hammond had the grounds landscaped extensively when he bought the remaining 242 acres of the estate 25 years ago, built three swimming pools and used it as a summer home until 1932.

Charles Forko, caretaker and his family have attempted to keep the grounds well groomed, but weeds and the elements have done much to return Point Breeze to a state of delapidation.

HUNTERS CHALLENGED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(U.P.)—Mrs. P. F. Caverly, 60, claims the distinction of being the nation's premier woman deer hunter. For the 16th straight year the 60-year-old Albuquerque huntress brought back her deer alone and unaided.

JUST KIDS By Ad Carter

I FEEL LIKE A FEATHER IN THE BREEZE
HEY-FELLERS!
I HAD A DREAM LAST NIGHT THAT I WAS EATIN' A BIG DINNER-I STARTED WITH A BIG PLATE OF SOUP-AN' THEN ROAST CHICKEN WITH SWEET POTATOES AN' ASPARAGUS-I WAS JES' COMING TO THE CHOK'LIT ICE-CREAM WHEN I WOKE UP
SO WHAT?
I WENT RIGHT BACK TO SLEEP AN' TRIED TO DREAM ABOUT THE ICE-CREAM
HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
I COULDN'T EVEN GET A SECOND PLATE OF SOUP!

GAIN CONFINED TO FRACTIONS, TRADING QUIET

Mild Rallying Tendencies Appear In Early Stock Proceedings.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mild rallying tendencies appeared in today's early stock market proceedings, but support was lacking for many leaders.

Gains, on the whole, were confined to fractions near the second hour and dealings were quiet.

Trading forces were inclined to go easy in view of year-end tax selling. While Far Eastern developments were watched closely, few offerings were attributed to these. Bonds and commodities did little either way.

Studying merchandising shares for clues to business trends, brokerage quarters noted forecasts from officials of nationwide organizations that retail sales in December will fall no more than 5 per cent below the 1936 level. A dip of as much as 20 per cent had been looked for by some.

Not so encouraging were the figures of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing a sharp drop in building permits for November.

FACES DILEMMA IN RELIEF FUNDS

County Has $4,000 to Meet $21,000 In Bills as It Awaits State Aid.

fecting river counties, would release 1937 flood and poor relief balances.

The possibility of a coalition between members of the newly-organized farm bloc and Republican members of the legislature offered a new threat to important phases of the relief program, particularly that sponsored by the League of Municipalities.

A high Republican house member told the United Press such an alignment was being considered to prevent the passage of any "extravagant relief measure or bills that would work to the disadvantage of rural localities.

He said he believed a maximum of 50 house members could be drawn into such an alliance—far more than would be needed to block any legislation.

Should the coalition materialize, according to the Republican leader, the first test of its strength probably would come to the proposal to reduce the required vote for passage of local relief levies from 65 to 55 per cent and the bill to increase the 1938 sales tax appropriation for relief from $6,000,000 to $6,500,000.

NEARS JURY

Expect Dingledine's Fate to Be Debated Tomorrow.

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(AP)—Common pleas court attaches said today they expected the case of Harry B. Dingledine, 54, on trial for first degree murder in the gun slaying of a deputy sheriff, to reach the jury by tomorrow.

The defense rested unexpectedly late yesterday after calling only 26 of 33 subpoenaed witnesses. Most of the day's session was consumed by cross examination of Dingledine.

The accused slayer's son, Henry, has been condemned to death in the electric chair in connection with the same slaying. The pair, with Harry Chapman of Chicago, are accused of participation in a Sept. 3 gun battle in which Edward F. Furry and Patrolman Martin Randolph were killed.

SKIPPY'S CHASE ENDS IN DEATH

Scotch Terrier Found Frozen to Death In Lake Near Canton.

CANTON—(AP)—A week ago "Skippy," a year old Scotch Terrier, disappeared from the home of his mistress, Mrs. Thomas McCoy, at Meyers lake. His disappearance became a neighborhood concern for he was the pet of many.

Today two boys noted two black spots out in the center of the lake, a quarter of a mile from the shore. They skated out for a close inspection.

There frozen in the ice was "Skippy" and near him, likewise encased in ice, was a wild duck. "Skippy" had ventured too far in his last chase over the ice and had become trapped in the fast freezing slush.

BIG NIGHT NEAR FOR GRID FANS

News-Journal Party Tomorrow to Be City's Greatest Football Banquet.

Ride; Cast school head coach and his crack sophomore, Chuck Hart of Shelby, remembered in Mansfield as the terror of the N. C. O. a few years ago.

A complete program of sound football pictures will bring the evening to a close.

It will be the greatest football party ever staged in Mansfield, and it is open to the public. The only price of admission is the cost of the dinner—$1.55, tax included.

It is unfortunate that not all of the Tyger followers can attend the banquet. The ballrom is not large enough to accommodate all of the fans. Only 250 can be seated and so the ticket sale will stop when 250 have been sold. Tickets may be purchased at the business offices of The News-Journal and Senior high school, Tawse Pharmacy and Bates Candy shop.

REPORT SHOWS CONTAGION ON INCREASE HERE

104 Cases Listed In County During November; Chickenpox Most Prevalent.

One hundred and four new cases of contagious diseases, of which chickenpox was the most prevalent, were reported to the county health department during November.

The report, prepared by Dr. Roy C. Rehder, health commissioner, showed 48 cases of chickenpox, 31 of scarlet fever, 7 of whooping cough, tuberculosis 8, pneumonia 3, and mumps 1. Of the total cases, 80 were recorded in the city and 24 in the country.

A report of the tuberculosis diagnostic clinic held last Friday under the direction of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron showed that 27 examinations were given, with four positive tests and 23 negatives.

71 Since First of Year.

Dr. Rehder said that the four increases to 71 the total number of new cases discovered in the county since Jan. 1.

Sixty-six persons died in the county last month as compared with 54 in October, the report showed. After dropping to a new low for the year during September, births in the county soared to 104.

No figures were available on the monthly birth and death rates this year, Dr. Rehder said, but he predicted that the birth rate would show a marked increase over the 19.2 rate per thousand recorded in 1936.

Sunken Gunboat—Jap Ambassador 'Sorry'

The United States gunboat Panay, bombed and sunk in the Yangtze river by Japanese airmen, is shown in the above photo. The incident increased tension in the Far East war situation. Admitting responsibility for the bombing, Japanese diplomatic circles called the episode a "terrible mistake" and immediately apologized. In Washington, Hirosi Saito, Japan's ambassador to the United States, shown here, hurried to the state department to express Japan's official regrets.

DRAINAGE DITCH PLAN DISMISSED

Commissioners Reject Proposal After Hearing Protests.

County commissioners yesterday dismissed a petition for the construction of 8,500 feet of drainage ditch in Jackson and Springfield townships after nearly 20 property owners in the area protested at a hearing at the courthouse.

Cost of the proposed improvement was estimated at $2,100 which would have been apportioned to the land owners in the district. The petition was filed by J. C. Wright and carried the names of several property holders who opposed the construction of the ditch at yesterday's hearing, commissioners said.

AUTO WORKERS TO GET NO '37 YULE BONUSES

Higher Wages, Strikes and Recession Are Given as the Reasons.

(News-Journal Special)

DETROIT — Automobile workers are finding out today that they cannot eat their Christmas cake and have it, too.

The cake, in this instance, consists of Christmas bonuses. Where Santa Claus had more than $15,000,000 in bonus checks in his pack for motor car workers last year, there will be none this year.

Automobile companies, it was definitely learned, will be unable to send any Christmas checks to their factory employes for three reasons, given unofficially:

1. The current business recession.
2. Increased wages, some of them forced by strikes.
3. Costs of strikes during 1937, which included rises in prices of materials and norrowing of profit margins.

No G. M. Bonus.

It was learned definitely that General Motors corporation, which gave its workers $10,000,000 in bonuses and a $25,000,000 wage increase just before Christmas last year, would not declare a similar bonus this year.

Nor was it deemed likely in informed circles that the Chrysler corporation would declare a Yuletide bonus. Last year, Chrysler had announced a pre-Christmas bonus of $4,000,000, bringing its total bonuses then to $8,300,000. Every Chrysler worker then received a $50 bonus if he had been employed by the company one year, with $2 additional for each year of service up to ten.

This year Christmas finds more than 10,000 Chrysler employes laid off, and the other 45,000 workers of the company in the Detroit area working on shortened schedules of only 24 to 32 hours a week.

Many other automobile and automobile parts firms also gave their workers Christmas presents in form of lump sums of cash last year.

Soft Pedal.

Spokesmen for the industry say now, however, none is in prospect for this year. One automobile company executive declared that in his opinion the fact the industry would be unable to hand out Christmas bonuses comprised "negative news," and refused to discuss the situation. He took the position that it should not be published, saying it might lead to further unrest among workers already troubled by lay-offs.

But another spokesman said it was important from the aspect of the general economic situation, since the retail market would be lacking the stimulus which Christmas bonuses had provided in 1936.

Still another observer, an official of a second member of the "Big Three," welcomed off-the-record discussions of the nonpayment of Christmas bonuses. He said, using a trite colloquialism, that it should bring home to the workers the fact "you can't eat your cake and have it, too." He asserted that auto firms would not be able to afford bonuses because of the cost of strikes called by the United Automobile Workers union and wage increases demanded by the U. A. W.

U. A. W's Claim.

The U. A. W. claimed in a recent statement it had won wage increases totaling $250,000,000 a year for automobile workers. That estimate, however, included the $25,000,000 pay boost voluntarily given by General Motors last Christmas, and the figures were compiled before the current widespread layoffs and the cutting of factory schedules to three and four days a week.

It also was pointed out by labor that new tax legislation levied on excess profits, going into effect at the first of 1937, had motivated declaration of some of the Christmas dividends last year for workers.

Statisticians for the industry assert that whatever wage increases the U. A. W. had won during the last year were eaten up by boosts in rents, particularly in Michigan cities, where, because of housing shortages, landlords virtually could name their own price for dwellings and took every announced wage increase as a signal for raising rents.

Auto workers with fattened pay envelopes also found prices of food, particularly meat, soaring, so much so that the women's auxiliary of the U. A. W. sponsored meat strikes in Michigan cities.

Credit Tightens.

Another disturbing factor is that retail merchants in many cases are tightening credit once extended to auto workers. Last year most automobile workers could obtain credit to buy Christmas gifts on time. This year, because of the prospect of additional layoffs and the fact that new strikes may force fluctuations in workers' incomes, many auto workers find credit cut off.

It simmers down to this: Most of the wage increases already have been spent and, whatever the debate as to causes, the effect remains that many auto workers this year will miss the $50, $60 and $70 they found in lump sums in their Christmas stockings a year ago.

COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE CITY'S PART IN TERRITORY CELEBRATION

Mansfield's part in the sesquicentennial celebration of the founding of the Northwest territory was one step nearer realization today.

A committee has been named to draw up plans for the staging of a historical pageant here, when the ox team covered-wagon caravan—a counterpart of the expedition that made the trek into the Northwest territory 150 years ago —reaches Mansfield May 2.

Paul W. Williams, secreary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce said today that W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, and John F. Correll, a teacher at Hedges school, will be the nucleus of the committee.

They will attempt to arrange for the portrayal of early Richland county history and the activities of Johnny Appleseed, famous character of this section in whose memory a monument has been erected in Middle park.

Williams said that Miller and Correll were anxious to learn from persons interested in the event, facts concerning early Richland county history and asked for the co-operation of the entire county in the planning and participating in the event.

Observance of the sesqui-centennial of the settlement of the Northwest territory, of which Ohio was originally a part, is in the hands of federal and state commissions. The ox team caravan left Ipwich, Mass., Dec. 3, and will follow the trail of the original expedition. It is due to arrive in Marietta on April 7, 1938, and will continue through other cities in Ohio and the other four states—Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin—which were carved out of the Northwest territory.

WARNS AGAINST SHOPLIFTERS, PURSE THIEVES

Bates Says Holiday Season Usually Brings Wave of Petty Crimes.

Holiday shoppers were warned today by Police Chief Meade K. Bates to be on their guard against purse snatchers who frequent crowded stores and streets.

The chief's warning came as a committee from the Retail Merchants association called on City Solicitor Herbert H. Schettler and asked his co-operation in prosecuting to the limit anyone caught shoplifting.

Bates pointed out that the holiday season usually brings a wave of purse snatching and shoplifting as "these people operate with an air of security in crowds."

Police estimate, however, that at least three-fourths of the merchandise taken by shoplifters is recovered.

Several of the stores have employed private officers to watch for shoplifters during the Christmas season.

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch has indicated that he will show no leniency to those found guilty of thefts. Last week he sentenced two convicted shoplifters to 30 days in jail each and fined one $100 and costs and the other $50 and costs

Wife's Curiosity Leads Jobless Husband To Design Oil Lamp Bringing Him Riches

Wins Success After Sticking to Task For Five Years.

(News-Journal Special)

ST. LOUIS—A wife's curiosity is a good thing. And scientists can be wrong.

At least the success story of W. J. Keller of this city amply bears out these assertions.

It's a story of heart-breaking struggles against apparently insurmountable odds, finally the accomplishment of the "impossible" and then, at last—success.

In 1930 Bill Keller was broke, out of a job. Today W. J. Keller is the head of his own business which grossed $30,000 last year and which has prospects of at least $100,000 gross for 1937. Keller expects to be doing a million-dollar business within five years.

And it's all because his wife Nell was a curious woman.

It was back in 1930, Keller had been working as a timekeeper in a small St. Louis factory. But the factory shut down and Keller had nothing to do.

Things kept getting worse until finally Mrs. Keller managed to get a job in a factory that made permanent waving machines. The pay was small but it helped.

No Electricity.

Then the electric company turned off the power.

This particular evening — the evening that Nell Keller got curious—she was sewing. The light was dim and she found it hard to thread a needle

"Bill," she remarked, "why is it the light from an oil lamp is red or yellow instead of being a strong white light?"

"Why I don't know, hon," Bill acknowledged. And then it hit him. "Say, you've got something there! I'm going to find out."

And that's what Bill Keller proceeded to do. With no technical training whatever, he began a quest that was going to take six years before it would end.

If Bill Keller had only known it he could have gone into any of the big department or hardware stores in St. Louis and bought an oil lamp that would have given off a bright white light. It had been on the market for years and had been nationally advertised But Bill didn't know about it. Scientists claimed that this lamp gave off 75 candles of light. This, the scientists maintained, was the maximum amount of light that could be produced by this kind of coal oil mantle light without putting oil under pressure.

But Bill Keller didn't know about this lamp.

By day and by night Keller worked on his lamp His wife kept on with her small paying job at the factory At night she and Bill got their heads together over each problem that arose.

Potatoes and Beans.

It took money to buy things for experiments. Potatoes were cheap. So they ate fried potatoes and beans and spent the money they saved on little things their experiments required. Bill went to the library and read all he could find on lamps, gases, mantles and illumination.

He learned that the gas in a gas lamp does not light the mantle. He learned that the heat generated by the gas flame heated the mantle to a white hot heat which in turn gave off light. So he and his wife decided that they would have to make their lamp a mantle lamp.

Step by step they worked on it. They made hundreds of crude burners. By trial and error they developed their burner. At one time they were trying to make a deflector. It would require a lot of money to have dies made for what they wanted Down to the dime store went Bill. A cookie pan and a funnel did the trick. Each part meant some heart-breaking effort.

They had decided they wanted a special type of mantle. Finally they got a company in New Jersey interested. After months and many letters, this company finally built a mantle to their specifications. Needless to say, this company now makes all the mantles for Keller's lamp

The Wick Problem.

Wicks presented as big a difficulty. Bill had ideas about the wick. It had to be just so. There was nothing on the market to fill his needs. One company offered to make the kind he wanted if he would order 250 gross—36,000 wicks. Finally, though, he found a company that would gamble and make a few to specifications.

Finally the patents were granted Nearly five years had passed The lamp was perfected. In all that time, Keller had worked unaware that there was another oil mantle lamp on the market. At no time did any of his patent requests ever conflict or infringe in any way on any existing patents.

The big prosperous company with its well established coast to coast business didn't bother to look into the new patent granted Why should it? Scientists had informed it that it had the absolute finest in its type of lamp, that no oil mantle lamp would give off more than 75 candles of light'

But Killer's would His lamp would give off 110 candles of light.

Not only broke, but considerably in debt, Keller tried to find a way to get his lamp on the market. He had made a few and had sold them here and there to his friends. The folk in Bill's home town—Sandoval, Ill., liked the lamp. Two or three of them were sold there But he was still without funds and could not hire a salesman.

His First Break.

Finally he wrote several letters to big distributors. One of these happened to be one of the largest mail order houses in the country.

A statement in Keller's letter which said that his lamp would produce 110 candles of light from coal oil, piqued the interest of one of the big executives.

"Can you be in Chicago with your lamp by Friday morning?"

It was Thursday night. Keller was flat broke. But he had a good friend, W. H Kruse, a florist, whose greenhouse was just a few doors from Keller's flat.

"Bill," Kruse said, "you go home and get cleaned up. We are going to take the midnight train to Chicago."

So Keller and Kruse went to Chicago.

Bill Shows 'Em.

The big company executive was waiting. So was Mr. Research Engineer. Keller showed them. He lit his lamp and it made a light so bright it hurt the eyes. The research engineer got out a couple dozen gadgets and light meters and gave it a going over that was a going over. But there it was—110 candles of light. And scientists had said anything over 75 was an impossibility!

When Keller and Kruse got on the train for St. Louis that night, they had a contract to supply this mail order company with 25,000 lamps.

That was a year and a half ago. Instead of 25,000 lamps the first year, that company alone used 32,000 lamps. And this year, their orders are larger than ever.

Mrs. Keller, whose odd question started her husband on the road to prosperity.

One of Keller's oil-burning mantel lamps which is bringing him wealth in this electrical age.

Most of the material Keller used while experimenting came from a five-and-ten store.

CHECK SOURCE OF POLLUTION IN OHIO RIVER

U. S. Engineers to Launch Survey In Move to Curb Damage to Vessels.

EAST LIVERPOOL — (AP) — Stream pollution—of interest to steamboat operators because of damage to boilers and underwater equipment—will be investigated in this federal area of the Ohio river.

U. S. engineers announced a survey of this district and its tributaries would be launched shortly. Sportsmen also are concerned because contaminated water kills fish and riverside wild life.

Dams and river structures in general suffer. A preliminary examination of the general sources of pollution on all navigable streams will be made to ascertain the location, substances and extent of pollution. Engineers said the survey would be completed and submitted early next year.

Uniform flow profiles for the reaches of the Ohio river between each lock have been computed for the flood wave model from the bi-hourly gage readings of the damaging March, 1936, high water. Meanwhile, WORU was continued on the areial mosaic map which will show Ohio river flood conditions of January, 1937, district engineers said.

The navigation division completed inspection of lights from dam 8 here to dam 10 at Steubenville, and from the Steubenville lock to dam 13 at Martins Ferry, O. District dams were inspected by night. Aids made the trip on the steamer Vista. One buoy—at Kings Creek, W. Va.—was found to have been dragged 150 feet below its original position. The other signals and markers were in good order.

The dismantled steamer Voyager will be raised near the docks of the Costanzo Mining company at Wheeling, W. Va. The vessel caught fire and sank while tied up at the mine docks. Acetylene torches used to remove machinery was blamed for the fire. The bulk is beached in about three feet of water. Hull and deck are in good condition, an examination showed.

Pilots and steamboat operators soon will receive copies of new regulations for Ohio river navigation. Revisions require that sound signals given at locks be supplemented with visual signals whenever density of traffic or other conditions make it advisable. Flashing lights will operate when the gates are seated in the recess.

"SOCK" THAT COLD before It Sacks You!

Don't take a cold lightly. Don't be namby-pamby in your treatment.

A cold is an extremely serious thing and may end in something grave.

Treat a cold promptly. Treat it for what it is—an internal infection.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want for a cold!

First of all, they are a distinct cold medicine, made for colds and nothing else. "Cure-alls" may be treacherous.

Secondly, Bromo Quinine tablets are internal medication. They do an inside job, which is what you want.

Fourfold in Effect!

Bromo Quinine tablets do four important things in the treatment of a cold.

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

Don't Dilly-Dally!

Don't procrastinate with a cold. As soon as you feel the first signs, go right to your druggist for a box of Bromo Quinine tablets.

Taken promptly, these tablets will break up a cold in 24 hours, and that's the action you want.

Bromo Quinine tablets are nothing new or untried. They have been on the market for over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablets. That's proof of their dependability.

"Safety First"!

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box.

When a cold threatens, go right for Bromo Quinine tablets. Ask for—and insist upon getting—Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets). Substitutes are never the real thing!

The pained expression on the faces of some people is seldom caused by giving till it hurts.

Every piece of mail that bears a Christmas Health Seal is evidence that someone is thinking.

Congressmen are still being allowed 20 cents a mile for their trips to and from home—it being the congressmen themselves who decide to retain this tradition of stage coach days.

Prosperity Program.

THE NEW YORK Herald Tribune has proposed a program for the special session of Congress that is worth reading. This program includes:

1. Repeal of the undistributed profits tax.
2. Repeal of the capital gains tax.
3. Appoint committees to prepare a plan for general revision of the federal tax system to the end that punitive taxation be eliminated, and that all taxes be made visible so far as possible.
4. Appoint committees to search out every possible federal economy with the purpose of balancing the budget at the earliest possible time.
5. Appoint committees to amend the Wagner act to the end that while labor's right to organize will be safeguarded, the rights of employers and consumers will likewise be protected.

The merits of such a program are plain. The undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax are probably more responsible than anything else for the market collapse, the virtual disappearance of new capital and the consequent industrial recession.

Labor strife—which has been fomented rather than curbed by the Wagner act in its present form—is a virtually insurmountable barrier to normal industrial activity and the rapid re-employment of workers at fair wages.

The unbalanced budget is a grave national problem and there can be no orderly recovery so long as federal out-go dwarfs federal income.

Lastly, it would be an immense stimulant to business if Congress would take swift remedial action, pass the routine necessary bills, turn thumbs down on all crack-pot experimental legislation and then go home.

There isn't a person in this country who isn't affected by labor troubles or by taxes which drive capital into hiding and make it impossible for private enterprise to obtain money for expansion.

Bequest Based on Earnings.

THE will of a Philadelphia attorney, who died recently, contained a provision that may well be given thoughtful consideration by others who plan to leave money to young people.

This attorney's will provided for annual payment of money to each of four grandchildren—the annual payment in each instance to equal the amount earned during the year by the recipient.

He explained, as his motive for the restriction, that "happiness comes from work," and he believed his plan would stimulate his grandchildren to work more and earn more, thus receiving more from his estate.

The wisdom of such a restriction will not be questioned by those who have observed instances in which inheritance of wealth merely contributed to the idleness of young persons who might otherwise have had an incentive for effort—which is essential to any worthwhile accomplishment.

Wants a Baby of Her Own.

A YOUNG woman who has attained prominence among Hollywood's film and radio stars announces intended interruption of her career after another year, so that she can retire for a year "to have a baby."

While such advance announcement may savor of Hollywoodian tactics, there is something quite appealing in the idea of this young woman—now 23—aspiring to have "a baby of her own" by the time she is 25, rather than adopting a child or expending her maternal instincts in petting a poodle.

All may not be in accord with the implication involved in planning two years ahead for a baby—yet it will impress many as preferable to the decision of some healthy young couples to never have a baby, or the practice of some others to have babies come along in rapid succession, without regard to their physical or mental condition, or how they are to be cared for.

Suggests Indoor Parking.

PARKING troubles are not confined to any city, though they are more serious in large cities than small ones. Mayor La Guardia of New York suggests that parking space be constructed beneath buildings, both business and residence structures.

It used to be unsafe to keep cars inside such buildings, but improved cars and modern fireproof construction eliminate the fire danger. Architects today, it is urged, should design both residential and office buildings with self-contained parking facilities where cars can be safely left to the greater convenience of everyone. Streets would then be clear for moving traffic. General safety would gain and traffic would not be slowed down by avoidable congestion.

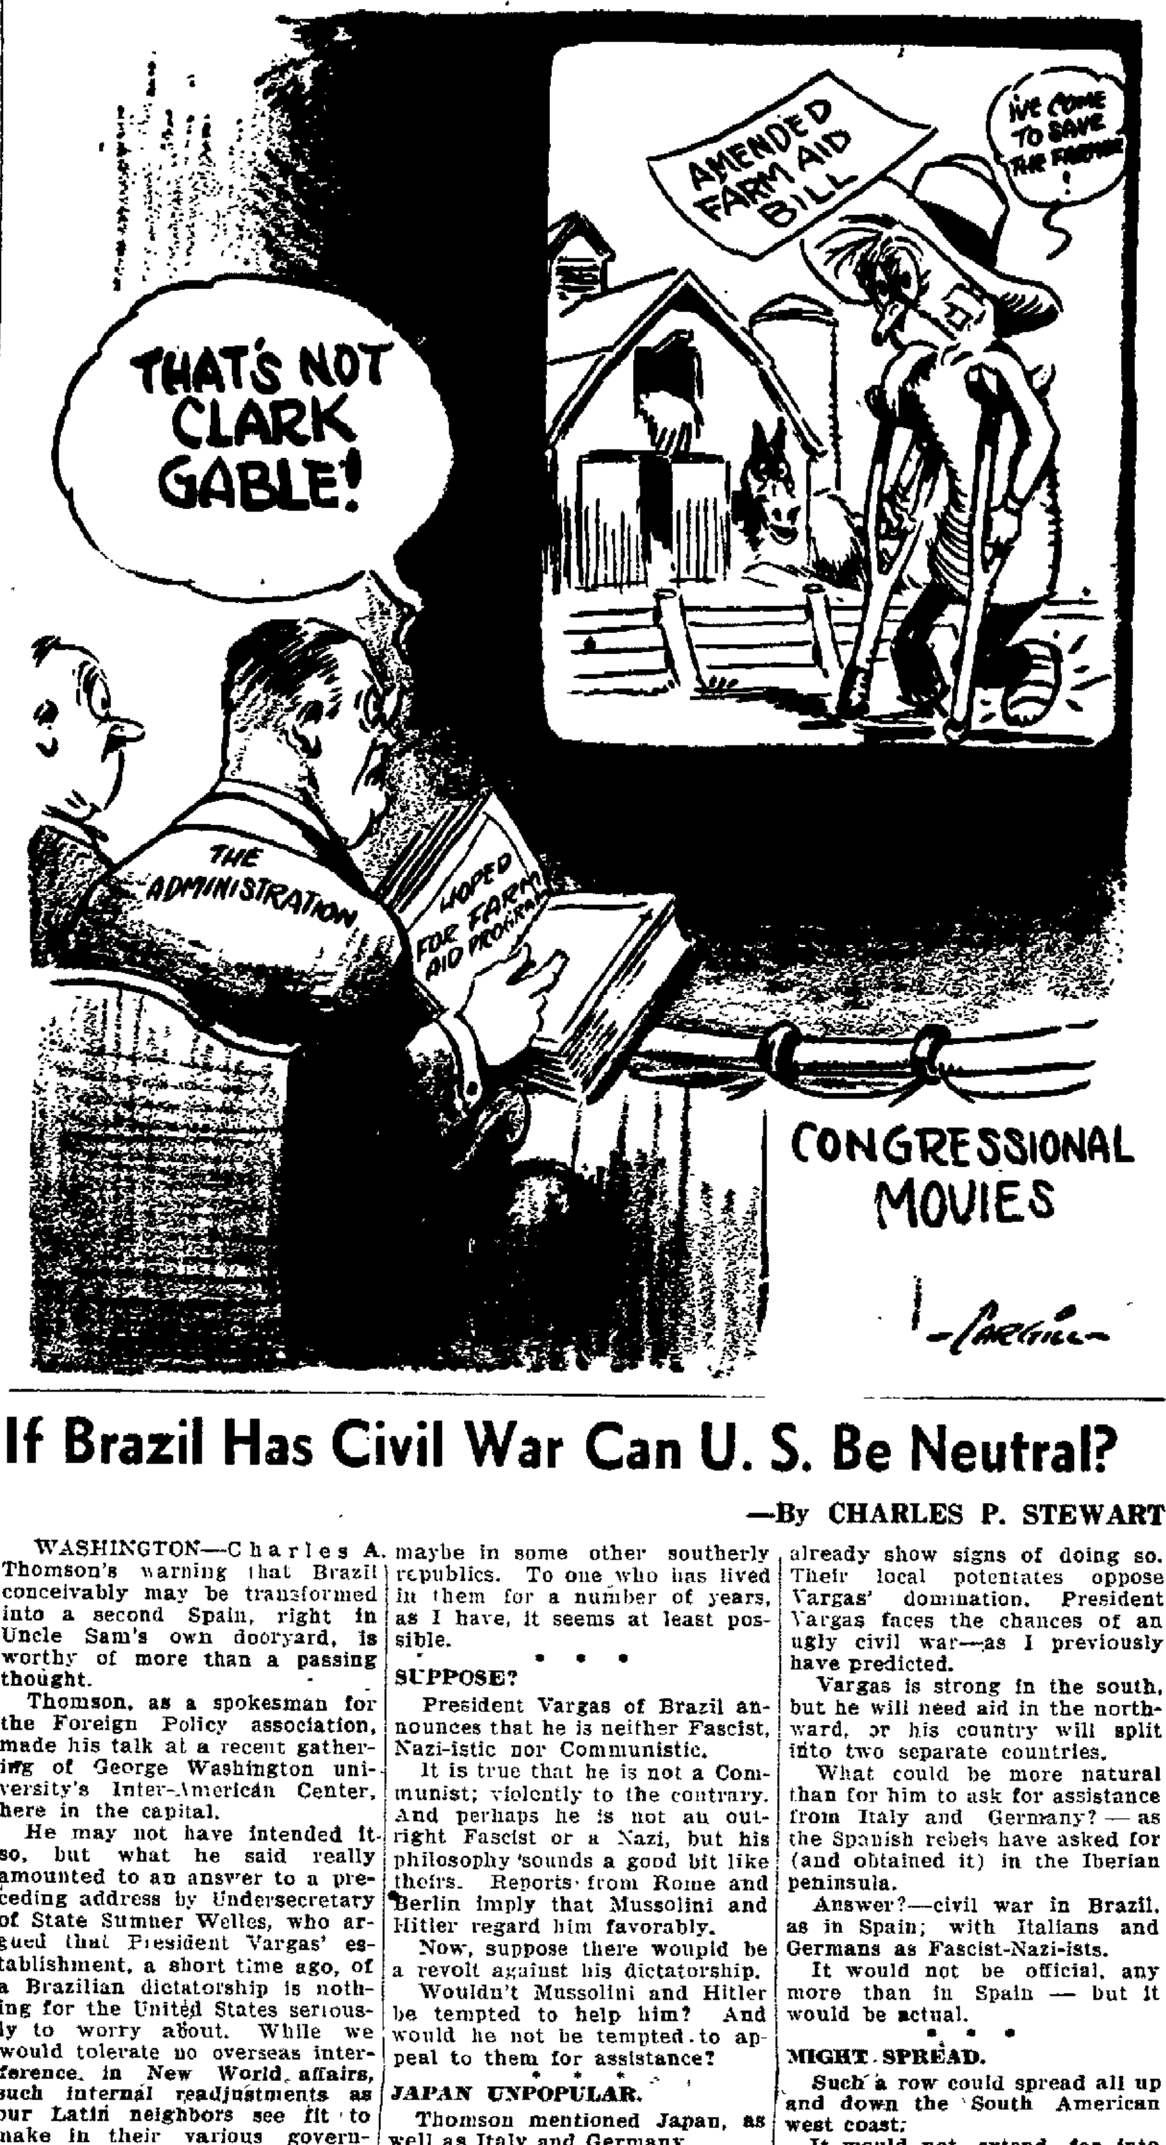
The initial job of preparing these parking spaces doubtless will be expensive, but in the long run they should prove well worth the cost.

Sonja's Knighthood.

FOR the first time a woman has been made a Knight of the Order of Saint Olav. This honor has been conferred by King Haakon VII on Sonja Henie, the famous skater who has become one of Hollywood's brightly shining stars.

This charming Norwegian girl, many Americans believe, deserves all the tributes that come her way. Her skating prowess won her a chance in American films. To the surprise of many she proved to be a very pleasing actress as well as skater. More than that, she is liked for herself. Her personality wears well even in the artificial and sometimes poisoning atmosphere of Hollywood.

THEY'VE CHANGED THE AUTHOR'S STORY



If Brazil Has Civil War Can U. S. Be Neutral?

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Charles A. Thomson's warning that Brazil conceivably may be transformed into a second Spain, right in Uncle Sam's own dooryard, is worthy of more than a passing thought.

Thomson, as a spokesman for the Foreign Policy association, made his talk at a recent gathering of George Washington university's Inter-American Center, here in the capital.

He may not have intended it so, but what he said really amounted to an answer to a preceding address by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, who argued that President Vargas' establishment, a short time ago, of a Brazilian dictatorship is nothing for the United States seriously to worry about. While we would tolerate no overseas interference in New World affairs, such internal readjustments as our Latin neighbors see fit to make in their various governmental setups are none of our business.

As to internal readjustments, "o. k.," agreed Thomson. But he raised the point that this particular Brazilian readjustment threatens overseas interference.

WHAT OF MONROE DOCTRINE?

I have a high respect for Sumner Welles' Latin American judgments. He has passed considerable time in our diplomatic service to the south of Key West, and knows our friends there thoroughly. He has the reputation of being somewhat tolerant of dictatorial regimes, but he is correct in asserting that the Latin temperament is different from ours, and that we must make allowances for it.

All the same, I never would suspect him of regarding any infringement of the Monroe doctrine with indifference.

And Thomson's version is that the Monroe doctrine is in more than a little peril of having its toes stepped on in Brazil, and maybe in some other southerly republics. To one who has lived in them for a number of years, as I have, it seems at least possible.

SUPPOSE?

President Vargas of Brazil announces that he is neither Fascist, Nazi-istic nor Communistic.

It is true that he is not a Communist; violently to the contrary. And perhaps he is not an outright Fascist or a Nazi, but his philosophy sounds a good bit like theirs. Reports from Rome and Berlin imply that Mussolini and Hitler regard him favorably.

Now, suppose there woupld be a revolt against his dictatorship.

Wouldn't Mussolini and Hitler be tempted to help him? And would he not be tempted to appeal to them for assistance?

JAPAN UNPOPULAR.

Thomson mentioned Japan, as well as Italy and Germany.

Japan does not signify in Latin America. There are Japanese there in formidable numbers, but they are not locally popular, any more than they are in this country. Anyway, the mikado is too much occupied with the Orient to bother with the New World at present.

Italian and German public opinion, however, is strongly intrenched in southern Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

IF CIVIL WAR, THEN—

Well, assume that northern and western Brazil rebel against the Vargas dictatorship. They already show signs of doing so. Their local potentates oppose Vargas' domination. President Vargas faces the chances of an ugly civil war—as I previously have predicted.

Vargas is strong in the south, but he will need aid in the northward, or his country will split into two separate countries.

What could be more natural than for him to ask for assistance from Italy and Germany? —as the Spanish rebels have asked for (and obtained it) in the Iberian peninsula.

Answer?—civil war in Brazil, as in Spain; with Italians and Germans as Fascist-Nazi-ists.

It would not be official, any more than in Spain — but it would be actual.

MIGHT SPREAD.

Such a row could spread all up and down the South American west coast.

It would not extend far into the interior, but it would involve such capital cities as Para, Pernambuco, Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, Santos, Puerto Alegre, Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

With Italian and German ships running supplies and men to the belligerents!—as on the Spanish coast!—and sinking neutral vessels! — as in the Mediterranean! It would be calculated to get Uncle Sam's goat, would it not? — no matter how neutral he might prefer to be. It surely would strain the Monroe doctrine.

That is the prospect which worries C. A. Thomson of the Foreign Policy association.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Dec. 14, 1917.

Wood was provided at city prison to be sawed by "floppers" in payment for their lodging.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wendland, 105 North Adams street.

H. R. Fiedler was elected superintendent of St. John's Evangelical Sunday school.

Plea was made to feed birds when heavy snow covered ground. (Same applies this year).

Mrs. George Theis, 59, died.

W. Sherman Bell was attending hotel men's convention in Toledo.

Housewarming was arranged as surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Rudd at their new home on Glenwood boulevard.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Dec. 14, 1932.

Mercury dropped to five above, and a cold winter was forecast. North lake was crowded with ice skaters.

Harvey Fleck, just back from moose hunting trip in Canada, during which he bagged two moose, described trip to members of Optimist club at regular meeting.

Attorney R. W. Stephenson, speaking at meeting of McVey post, American Legion, urged veterans to continue fight for payment of bonus.

C. M. Crafton, Harlingen, Texas, was visitor in city.

W. E. Bradford was installed as worshipful master of Venus lodge, F. and A. M.

TODAY IS—

Tuesday, Dec. 14. Statehood day in Alabama—118th anniversary of its admission as the 22nd state. Ice covered with snow freezes deeper than uncovered ice.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

Book Depicts "Beauties" of War.

MUCH IS being said concerning the book that Bruno Mussolini, 21-year-old son of Il Duce wrote in regard to his war experiences.

This book, according to The Living Age, is "recommended reading" in Italian schools. Anything "recommended" in a dictator country may be understood to mean "compulsory."

Bruno, who wrote the book at 20, explains the reason for his 150-page volume, "Flying Over Ethiopian Mountain Ranges," in these words:

"My purpose is to have Italian youth learn from a young man what it feels like to be fighting a war when only 20 years of age, and to be above war's sorrow's, seeing only its beauties."

WHAT BRUNO SAW.

Now let us see what "beauties" Bruno saw:

"I get only mild sensations from bombing, perhaps because I was expecting enormous explosions like those in American films, whereas the little Abyssinian homes, made of withies and rushes, give no satisfaction to anyone bombing them...

"The little incendiary bombs give satisfaction; at any rate one sees fire and smoke. We conscientiously burned the whole of this zone. But there were no inhabitants left....

"I have never been able to see a fire, although I have often chased fire-engines...Perhaps because someone had heard of this gap in my education a machine from the 17th squadron was ordered to bomb the Adi-Abo zone exclusively with incendiary bombs ....We had to set fire to the wooded hills, to the fields, and to the little villages....It was all most diverting....The bombs hardly touched the earth before they burst out into white smoke and an enormous flame and the dry grass began to burn. I thought of the animals; God, how they ran....After the bomb-racks were emptied I began throwing bombs by hand....It was most amusing: a big zariba surrounded by tall trees was not easy to hit. I had to aim carefully at the straw roof and only succeeded at the third shot. The wretches who were inside, seeing their roof burning, jumped out and ran off like mad...

"We went to Dacue, where there was a market and a big crowd; we dropped a few bombs.

"Surrounded by a circle of fire about 5,000 Abyssinians came to a sticky end. It was like hell, the smoke rose to incredible heights and the flames reddened the setting sun."

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

A Baker's Dozen.

Short weight and short measure are an old story; in former days, however, it was not taken so lightly as it is today, as is indicated by the stringent laws promulgated and enforced, in connection with the sale of bread, in London, hundreds of years ago.

The penalties for infractions of this code were so severe that bakers made sure that they would not become liable; and, leaning over backwards, they included an additional loaf, roll or batch, with each twelve sold, thus making thirteen—the baker's dozen.

Oftener than not, the recipient of the baker's dozen would be "in" one loaf. In fact, this particular bit of extra dispensation became known as the "inbread" or "vantage" loaf!

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

There Are Always Herods.

THAT LOVELY CHRISTMAS STORY!

Wintry sky . . . dark, narrow streets . . . rough-hewn caves where beasts of burden stalled. And in a manger, nestling in the straw—The Babe. The Child who'd come to free a captive world.

Around Him, ragged shepherds peering, awe-struck. Dark slaves, jewels flashing on their turbaned heads. Three Wise Men, kneeling—seeing hope at last—hands laden with frankincense, gold and myrrh. And last, in fierce but futile haste, King Herod's henchmen—come to kill.

Frightened Herod . . . seeing the end of his power. For the word had spread quickly, whispering through the kitchens and dungeons, babbling into the court itself—"The Babe is born! The Babe who was promised; King of the Jews!

A babe born to captured Israel? Faugh! Herod swore and spat. Those pestilential peasants with their accursed prophesies! Would nothing still them—neither the torture pits of Rome, nor the deadly wrath of Judea's High Priests? A babe born to challenge both temple and throne? No—it must not be! "Go find him!" he hissed. "GO KILL HIM!" he screamed, his lips a slobbering snarl across his fear-grayed flesh.

But when they had come, Joseph was gone. And the Child was safe . . . safe with His message. So, still in frantic hope that he might meet this menace, Herod ordered all little ones killed — "from two years old and under" . . . and "in Bethlehem and in all the coasts thereof" there was wailing and anguish which could not be comforted.

A Babe is born! Each moment a Babe is born . . . with its challenge. Not only in Bethlehem of Judea, but here and now in modern America . . . a child is born and each of us is greeting it after his fashion. And some receive it with selfless love . . . and some, in their wisdom, with reverence, seeing that Youth is the hope of the world, offering it the frankincense of their loyalty.

But there are others who see only affront in Youth's challenge and, from the first, set themselves against it.

FOR ALWAYS THERE ARE HERODS . . . AND ALWAYS THERE IS A "SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS!"

They may not sit on thrones, these modern Herods. To the contrary, they are frequently rated as exemplary fathers and mothers, and their names may appear on Educational Committees and Charity Boards. But there is in them no true understanding of Youth—no love or reverence for its promise—only anger and envy and fear.

They tremble before Youth, these modern Herods. (Are you one of them, Am I?) They hate Youth's courage and honesty, because it exposes their own cowardice and hypocrisy. They have so long accepted and battened on the misery of life, these political despots and domestic tyrants . . . so long excused society's shabby compromises because it suited their laziness and greed. And now comes Youth crying—

"These abominations need not be! These injustices and indecencies—God has not willed them . . . we need not endure them! We can wipe them out if we wish! We have that in us which can conquer anything if we stand together.

"Rise up and help us! Put side your sluggishness, your intolerance . . . stop cherishing your stupidity! Believe in us . . . believe in yourselves . . . believe in a joyous and abundant Life! It is ours for the taking—COME!"

But the Herods, dreading change and criticism, dreading risk and ridicule, cry out — "AWAY WITH THEM!"

"A little child shall lead them." That child has come. The Babe is born! It is waiting, by the millions, in this land today. Believe in it! Reverence it! Take its hand in love and faith! FIGHT BY ITS SIDE!

Timely Editorial

Human Courage.

It is natural to acknowledge human courage in terms of praise whenever and wherever it is found. But the display of courage among men, women and even children is not remarkable. It is an almost universal trait. People go on in the face of adversity. Life keeps moving, no matter what the catastrophes which beset it.

Word has come that the community of London, Tex., which suffered so great a tragedy when its fine schoolhouse was leveled by an explosion, is rebuilding the structure and that the classmates of the hundreds who died in that disaster are bravely attending school for the time being in temporary buildings. The new building is to be named Courage school.

And why shouldn't the people of London, Tex., have the courage to go on? It is expected of them that they shall pick up the threads of their existence, where they were shattered, and carry on just as the rest of us do in the face of tragedies, either small or great, which overcome us. This kind of courage is heartening and proof again of the invincibility of the human spirit to progress and conquer.—Columbus Dispatch.

Physician Explains Standards For Safe Maternity Hospitals

By JAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

A MEDICAL authority recently raised a good deal of rumpus, both public and professional, by declaring that most women would be better off if their babies were born at home instead of in hospitals.

Of course this contention is as hard to prove as to disprove. But either side can find many pertinent facts for its argument.

When American women began to have their babies in hospitals instead of their homes, the innovation was hailed as the solution to the problem of America's high maternal death rate. But experience has been disappointing. The maternal mortality rate did not shrink, and there is abundant evidence that a hospital confinement is not necessarily a safe confinement.

So far the argument seems to favor one side. But the "opposition" points out that hospitals must not be lumped together as if they were all alike, and also that "the maternity hospitals have a higher maternal death rate simply because they get more difficult cases to handle. In addition, cases which start at home and run into trouble are brought to the hospital and add to the hospital death figures."

So much then for pro and con. But what the prospective parents would like to know is the answer to the questions: "home or hospital?" and "if hospital, how can we be sure it is a good one?"

The decision as to home or hospital, must be as much with the obstetrician as with the family. Much depends upon the locality and availability of good maternity hospital service.

It is easily appreciated that economic factors also influence the choice of a place for delivery.

With adequate and competent pre-natal care (medical supervision of the woman during the period of her pregnancy), the physician can easily judge whether the case is suitable for home delivery.

The home is safe for the normal case. It is inadequate to meet the emergency that might arise.

"A poorly managed, ill equipped, carelessly supervised hospital is the worst place on earth for a woman to have her baby." But a high grade hospital with a properly planned and well supervised maternity department is the safest and best place for childbirth."

So says an American Hospital association committeo after consulting many obstetricians.

How are the good hospitals to be distinguished from the poor ones? The task is partly performed by the American Medical association and the American College of Surgeons which inspect and certify hospitals.

Minimum standards of the American College of Surgeons for good obstetrical service are:

(1.) A properly equipped and organized department of obstetrics providing for mothers and new-born; adequate segregated accommodations, with separate personnel, sterilized equipment and supplies.

(2.) Special facilities for immediate (outside) isolation of all cases of infection.

3.) Adequate and competent medical, nursing and nonprofessional staff, assigned solely to work in this department.

(4.) Adequate laboratory and special treatment facilities under competent supervision. Routine laboratory examinations to be made of all patients.

(5.) Accurate and complete clinical reports to be kept on every patient, and a complete history of the baby and its progress.

(6.) Major obstetric procedures to be carried out only after consultation.

(7.) A thorough monthly analysis and review of the department's work, considering deaths, infections and other problems.

(8.) Adequate instruction and practical experience for student nurses in caring for the patient before, during and after birth, as well as in caring for the newborn.

Points 1, 2 and 3 aim at protecting the obstetrical patient against cross infection from the other hospital patients, and against any infections deevloped in the obstetrical wards. Points 4, 5 and 6 provide against carelessness, bad management and meddlesome obstetrics. Point 7 provides for the quick recognition of any deficiency or carelessness in the obstetrical service. Point 8 aims for better obstetrical nursing.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

OTHER MEN'S SINS: Lay hands sudden, on no man, neither to partake of other men's sins: keep thyself pure.—1 Timothy 5:22.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

THE defenders of Broadway, so shockingly depopulated by the Hollywood hegira, insist that those who have made the trek soon tire of the sunshine, the Spanish palazzio and mosaic-lined swimming pool. And in a short time are sighing for Times Square.

Yet when Sidney Skolsky, a confirmed Broadwayite, was reassigned to the street after four years in Hollywood by his paper, he chucked his job with the ringing accolade: "Broadway is dead!" While it may not be completely moribund, it is absurd to claim the old time lure.

Only a skeleton of the legitimate theater is left for the danse Macabre. It takes a top notch stage star to make $1,000 a week—a stipend that would receive the merry ha ha across the Mojave. Too, on the coast they are soon converted to the pleasure of simplicity, early up, early to bed.

It is true some of the old timers develop a nostalgia for former scenes and they come back, lounge about the Lambs, stroll along a Broadway that has become largely honky-tonk, and in a few days are quite ready to hit the old Santa Fe trail again.

Corey Ford's correspondence letterheads at his retreat near Freedom, New Hampshire, where he turns out his corking stories, are gotten up in the manner of the Ozark country store. They are weighty with such homely trade boosting axioms as: "A Ford writ story is a good writ story. Get your writings off Ford." And: "All kinds of writing done quick and neat." Across the bottom is strung this: "Rabbit hounds, bird dogs, guns, cameras, fishing tackle, bot, sold and swopped." Ford's roommate and companion during his New York days is also a literary isolationist. Being Frank Sullivan, who cannot be budged out of his native Saratoga Springs.

New York no longer has any outstanding Cameo Kirbys. Such as Richard Canfield, Honest John Kelly and the like. The only notorious gambler I ever met was Arnold Rothstein, who, pistoled in a New York hotel, refused to name his assassins. He had written a courteous note about something in my column and suggested I drop in to see him if in his neighborhood. His stationery read "Insurance Broker." I had, of course, seen him around, a fellow with fever-bright eyes in a face the sickly shade of a flounder's belly. In restaurants he always demanded a seat with back to wall and invariably traveled with his bodyguard. I never got around to calling, but one evening in a drug store off Times Square a mutual friend introduced us. He was soft-voiced, quite shy with a few exchanges of monosyllabic talk seemed anxious to hurry on. In restaurants afterward when I was there he would frequently send over a waiter to suggest a complimentary bottle of wine. But never, wherever we were, did he offer to speak, and if I caught his eye he would look quickly away.

Most of the romanzas about the sleek and dapper Nick the Greek have the Paul Bunyan genesis. Reputedly a wizard with dice, he is often rumored to arrive in town and risk $100,000 on a single throw. Also frequently rated as worth $500,000 one day and making a quick touch for fare to Philadelphia the next. Yet a gambling fellow tells me he is one of the showy players and rarely loses or wins more than $500, but the impression is etched that he is a reckless plunger.

Experts in reactions to gambling say Flo Ziegfeld could win or lose a huge amount with less emotional reaction than anyone who enjoyed betting as a diversion. Win or lose, there was not a flicker of change in his facial expression. He used to play in the highest stake poker game in town, one indulged by a select coterie of millionaires at an upper avenue hotel. He was desperate one night for funds to launch a current Follies, and when the last hand was played at 3 a. m. he was $80,000 loser. Yet he went sound asleep driving to his hotel, nine blocks away.

I sympathize with mumblers along the highway. Give me a desolated block on a dark night and I'll probably talk out loud. Tonight a mumbler ahead was saying: "I'm not so handsome, but I'm as purty as the mug she married." That was atellin' em! Eh, fat lady?

Many a driver has fallen into trouble clear up to his neck, because he failed to realize the necessity of reading and heeding roadside traffic signs. Traffic safety signs wouldn't fool anybody; they are gospel truth, always. They advise the wary and warn the reckless and the thoughtless. It's foolish to ignore them.

Why Use Pills or Purgatives?

The purpose of most cathartics is to over-stimulate your intestines. Afterward, you may feel weakened. In cases of common constipation, isn't it better to keep "regular" with a wholesome NATURAL food like Kellogg's All-Bran?

All-Bran will keep you "regular" as the time-table—but it works so differently from medicines. It doesn't over-stimulate your intestines; it gives them TWO things they need. First, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Next, vitamin "B₁"—All-Bran is a good source of this vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract.

Use All-Bran REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons every day and drink plenty of water. The results will delight you! Every grocer sells All-Bran Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

U. S. IGNORES JAP 'WARNING,' SHIPS TO STAY

Keeps Fleet In China While Vessels Hunt Survivors of Sunken Gunboat.

ties were understood to have told the navy that the warning would be disregarded. The Americans also denounced as "absolutely and unequivocally false" the statement that the Oahu was coming here in compliance with the warning.

Soon after this, Japanese authorities through the semi-official Japanese Domei news agency telephoned to correspondents and said that the warning was withdrawn. They asked that all messages sent on it be cancelled.

The toll of known dead was increased to two among those on the Panay, and eight more were known to be suffering from severe wounds.

The United States Cruiser Augusta, flagship of the American Asiatic fleet, was advised that the American bluejacket killed was Charles L. Ensminger, storekeeper first class.

In addition, the Augusta was informed, Sandro Sandri, one of the foremost war correspondents of Italy—Japan's new ally in an "anti-communist" pact, died of wounds he received when fleets of Japanese fighting planes swept down in four separate bomb and machine gun attacks on the little Panay and three Standard Oil steamships.

Many Americans and several foreigners aboard the Panay and the Standard Oil ships remained unaccounted for, though most of them were believed safe.

Suffer From Exposure.

It was with the knowledge that some of those missing were wounded, however, and that nearly all were suffering from two days' of exposure in the rigorous Chinese winter weather, that the rescue mission of the three governments sped their work.

The United States gunboat Oahu, sister ship to the Panay, arrived this morning at Hohsien, 25 miles above Nanking, where the Japanese attack occurred Sunday. The Oahu joined the British gunboat Bee, first to arrive for rescue work.

The Japanese gunboat Hodzu, a Japanese minesweeper and two Japanese destroyers arrived at Wuhu, just up the river from the scene of the attack, and at once contacted the Bee for joint rescue efforts.

Reports received by the cruiser Augusta and Standard Oil officials here said that it was planned, after gathering all survivors, to send them here, 200 miles down river, in the gunboat Oahu, the British gunboat Ladybird—which was itself seriously damaged by Japanese artillery fire Sunday and suffered the loss of one seaman killed—and the Japanese gunboat Hodzu.

Japs Promise Aid.

There was prospect of a dramatic cruise down the river. The Japanese promised to send a minesweeper to lead the American, British and Japanese gunboats and bear the brunt of any attack by Chinese on the river banks — and attack was possible at many points.

Rescue work, and the compilation of an authentic report on the fate of those involved in the Japanese attack, proved extremely difficult because the survivors, including wounded, were scattered widely.

But George Atcheson, jr., American embassy secretary, who was among the survivors of the Panay attack, wired American authorities that the main party of survivors, believed to number more than 50, reached Hanshan, 15 miles inland from Hohsien where the attack occurred. They were trying to reach a hospital at Hofei, farther inland, with the wounded.

J. Hall Paxton, fellow embassy secretary to Atcheson, volunteered to precede the party, hoping that he could reach Hofei well ahead of it and send a rescue mission of Chinese.

Nanking Captured, New Government Set Up.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Japan's rising sun flag fluttered at each corner of Nanking's walls today and within the ancient stone battlements the abandoned capital of the Chinese government was reported in flames.

While tremendous clouds of smoke shrouded the fallen city; a new provisional government for China—under the aegis of conquering Nippon—was formed at Peiping.

The guiding principles of the new regime, reported Domei (Japanese News agency), were vigorous opposition to the harassed government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, suppression of Communism and co-operation with Japan and Manchoukuo.

The new government was created immediately after the fall of Nanking. The Japanese command for the Nanking campaign announced its troops completed occupation of Generalissimo Chiang's former capital when the sun set yesterday on a day of bloody street fighting.

Among the officials of the provisional regime were two former presidents of China, three former premiers, five former finance ministers and four other one-time officers, the Japanese News agency said.

The communique on the occupation of Nanking gave no word of the 18 Americans still believed in Nanking. Japanese spokesmen said they were without information concerning the Americans and the handful of other foreigners or foreign-owned property.

ly the purpose of the revisions was to alienate members who would support a more flexible measure.

Administration forces gained some southern support for the bill last week by agreeing to include differentials. Southerners contended that without them, industry in their region would be hampered by the legislation.

House leaders, buoyed by their success yesterday in defeating efforts to prevent consideration of the long-delayed bill, expressed confidence it would pass late in the week without substantial change. They were more concerned about sentiment for sending th ebill back to the labor committee for revision than about proposals to revise it on the floor.

The senate, meanwhile, was trying to complete the farm bill by the time the house finished the wage-hour debate. Senator Barkley, Democratic floor leader, announced he was prepared to insist on night sessions if necessary to accomplish this objective.

Launches Revision Move.

The first major attempt to revise the wage-hour bill was expected from Rep. Dockweiler (D-Calif.), sponsor of a substitute drafted by the American Federation of Labor.

He would impose a uniform minimum wage of 40 cents an hour and a 40-hour work week. The labor committee draft would let these standards be set by industries.

If Dockweiler's proposal failed, Reps. Lamneck (D.-Ohio), Griswold (D.-Ind.), Connery (D.-Mass.) and Phillips (D.-Conn.), said they would demand consideration of their substitutes.

Griswold suggested a flat wage of 40 cents an hour and a 44-hour week.

A retired Baptist minister, Rep. Eaton (R.-N. J.), declared the bill was "conceived in sin and sired in the cave of the winds at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue"

Rep. Dies (D.-Tex.), a leading foe of the measure, said it was "designed to humbug" the workers and would benefit "only a handful of people" that both Adkins and Travis were intoxicated on Nov. 1, the day on which Dr. Seder was kidnaped, and that they were under Booth's influence.

Ten days after the kidnaping, Dr. Seder stumbled, bleeding and suffering, from the woods near Huntington and told how he had been held captive in a damp, abandoned coal mine. He died four days later, physicians declaring that pneumonia was caused by confinement in the cold pit.

Booth, Adkins and Travis were all arrested within 24 hours and were indicted by a special grand jury.

A "bouncing" check was the cause of the kidnaping, according to officers who investigated the case.

Booth was a tenant of Dr. Seder, and had given him a check for rent. The check failed the clear, and Dr. Seder is alleged to have remonstrated with Booth.

It is believed that the aged minister was lured from his home by Booth on a promise to make the check good.

After Dr. Seder disappeared, a ransom demand of $50,000 was demanded for his release. It was never paid.

After their arrest, all three suspects signed confessions admitting their part in the kidnaping, officers said.

CHAPTER VI

Karen awoke at the ringing of the telephone.

"Karen?" a familiar voice asked. "Asleep? Then wake up because I've only got the day here. I nearly went crazy thinking about you in New York alone on Sunday. Big cities can be pretty lonely on Sunday."

"Jerry! Where are you?"

"In a hotel about two blocks away. I drove nearly all night. How about some breakfast?"

An hour later, wearing a blue dress and a small blue hat, she met him in the lobby downstairs.

"As an old friend, don't I rate a kiss, Karen?"

"As somebody who drove all night to see me, you do."

At breakfast he leaned forward and asked, "Well, how's it going?" Slowly he shook his head. "Not so good, eh?"

"I came at the wrong time. Nobody told me that the theater is dead in the summer. I've covered miles looking for worfk." Philip...Why think of Philip who had danced with her and then walked out of her life again?

"Tell me about home, Jerry. But Harriston really isn't my home any more. New York is, whether it likes it or not. I don't think it likes very much."

Who was Jerry "dating" now, she wondered. And with all the girls in Harriston trying to attract him, he had driven all night to see her.

He touched her hand. "Karen, come back with me. A home and a husband are better than this. You're licked before you're started. You don't know any one to help you and there are thousands like you."

She knew Philip Ashley but he would not help her. She had met Brenda Bond.

"I won't give up, Jerry." Philip's indifference was a challenge. She would make him proud of her some day. She would! "I'm going to keep trying for as long as my money lasts. When that goes, I'll get another kind of job. But I won't give up."

"It means so much to you?"

"It means everything." Philip meant everything.

They were together all day. Late that afternoon Karen watched his dusty yellow roadster move slowly down the crowded street. Home, husband, security or this agony of uncertainty and being in love with a man who loved a girl in England...Jerry knew it was useless now. He probably would not come again. And so every contact with her old life was finished.

The next day at five o'clock Roxanne, a colorful figure in a new blue suit and beige hat, stood on the pier with her hands on Bill McGrath's broad shoulders.

"Why didn't you want me to see you off, Bill?"

"I hate good-byes," he said.

A whistle blew shrilly. He kissed her again, a hungry sort of kiss, and went up the gangplank. Her hair beneath the small hat shining in the sunlight, Roxanne stood and waved and smiled. He was too far away to know that she was crying, too.

After another week of walking, Karen's black slippers began to show signs of wear but the search to find work on the stage was futile. Moreover, in two weeks she had spent much of the money she had hoped to keep as a reserve. Hold on until late summer when rehearsals for shows opening in the fall would begin, she told herself repeatedly.

Hold on! Roxanne was sympathetic but helpless. "Didn't I tell you it was a tough racket?" she asked one night when they were having dinner in a small inexpensive Italian restaurant.

Then Karen ceased to look for work on the stage and looked for a job selling dresses in the department stores or in one of the innumerable little dress shops on Madison avenue. Her pride stung. She had come to New York to go on the stage. Instead she was filling out applications in stores and walking into little shops and saying, "I'm looking for work," and meeting rebuffs at every turn.

You could love a man completely and yet hate him a little at the same time, she thought, walking back to her room one day at noon. She had been thinking of Philip. It was a warm day and she could feel the heated pavement beneath the thin soles of her slippers.

In her room she wearily dragged off her hat and sat on the little chair before the desk. She had failed! Her high hopes were for nothing! Small wonder that every one had smiled sympathetically when she had said, "I'm going on the stage." Aloud she said, "I've failed. I can't even get a job selling dresses."

* * *

Harriston and Jerry were waiting. Slowly she picked up the fountain pen, took a sheet of paper, and wrote, "Dear Jerry, you were right. I am licked and I haven't started." The pen paused. But to go back defeated, to run back, to leave New York and Philip forever...If she did this, she would never see Philip she went down the hall to Roxanne's apartment and knocked.

Leaving the letter unfinished, again.

In a dull voice Roxanne said, "Come in."

Karen found her standing in the center of the room reading a newspaper. Coming closer, she saw what Roxanne's stunned, terrified eyes were reading. In large black print she read, "MAN MISSING FROM SHIP." And in smaller print, "William McGrath disappears an hour after ship leaves Miami."

Roxanne, her black blue satin negligee tied tightly around her slim hips, was trembling. Swiftly over her shoulders Karen read the newspaper account again.

Bill had come on board the ship at Miami and he was missed an hour after the ship sailed. Scheduled to sail in the afternoon, there had been a delay because of freight. So Bill had disappeared in the dark...The account went into gruesome details. His parents in Richmond had been notified.

Staring and speechless, Roxanne lifted her eyes and looked at Karen. Never would Karen forget that expression. What should she say? What could she say?

"Disappeared," Roxanne said at last, her voice unnatural, "Disappeared. Bill!" She shook her head. "No. It can't be! Not Bill!"

Karen choked back her tears. "Perhaps..."

But the other shook her head again. "There's no 'perhaps' when you go off the side of a ship in the dark." She looked at the newspaper again. "No letters. Nothing. But why did he do it? Why?"

"Perhaps it was an accident."

"The sea was calm. It says that!" After a while she said slowly, "Something made him do it. He was worried when he left. He was trying to tell me something and couldn't. You don't know him as I do."

"But I noticed that, too, Roxanne."

"Something happened. I don't believe he had to go to Florida on business! He — he went to see his parents for the last time. He knew! He had it all planned! He didn't want me to see him off because he knew he'd never see me again...But why? Why? Why didn't he tell me? I'd have understood anything. I love him enough to forgive him for anything.

And Karen was thinking that Roxanne had not cried or fainted. She just stood very still trembling with the paper in her hand. In the hard school of experience this honest, realistic girl had learned to face things with a calm other people could not understand.

"His parents know," she went on. "It says that, doesn't it? Was it another girl? I don't believe it. It wasn't another girl. He loved me."

Looking at Karen and speaking in a despairing voice that made Karen's heart ache, she said, "I'll never see Bill again. Never again. I'll never have his arms around me. But why—when we were so happy?"

She pressed her hand over her mouth for a moment. "I told you I couldn't live without him, Karen. Bill was my life. He was my world. He was everything I believed in, everything I was faithful to. After four years of getting nowhere, playing in small towns, singing in cheap night clubs..." Her voice stopped suddenly. "You run along. I'll be okay."

"I don't want to leave you alone now, Roxanne."

"I don't want to live without him."

Parole Probers Call for Testimony From Davey Aids

DUFFY LISTS EX-OFFICIALS HE'LL SUMMON

Jury to Hear Testimony From Members of White Cabinet, Governor Himself.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The special grand jury reached into Gov. Martin L. Davey's administration today for evidence in its investigation of alleged scandal in the state parole system.

Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy announced he had requested testimony from Wray Bevens, the governor's secretary in charge of clemency and parole matters; Carl W. Smith, a member of the state civil service commission and former secretary of the state parole board, and Harry W. Jewell, recently appointed chairman of the board.

Governor to Testify.

It was reliably reported three weeks ago that the attorney general would call on Governor Davey himself, as well as his personal secretary, Mrs. Myrna Smith, and Democratic State Chairman Francis W. Poulson.

While saying he had not decided when to call the governor, Duffy disclosed the names of other prominent persons to be called in. They are Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, assistant welfare director under former Gov. George White; Congressman-at-Large John McSweeney, director under white, and John Harper, director under former Gov. Vic Donahey. No date for their appearance has been fixed.

The grand jury was in recess until Thursday while the attorney general and George Hurley, an assistant, went to an unannounced city outside the state to investigate "leads."

Mrs. Bertha Naylor of Zanesville, estranged wife of Arch W. Naylor, will be recalled to the witness stand Thursday with Mrs. Helen Gaus, also of Zanesville. Mrs. Naylor suffered a heart attack after testifying early in the investigation. Her husband is a key witness in the inquiry and is a friend of Leland S. Dougan, former chairman of the parole board.

Calls Physicians.

Other witnesses to be heard Friday are physicians at Ohio penitentiary, Andrew Dagenhart of Lancaster, and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Miller of Columbus. Miller, a former prison guard, served three years in the penitentiary for smuggling guns to convicts. The jury is looking into reports that his relatives spent sums of money in a futile effort to obtain a parole for him.

Later, Duffy said he would subpoena F. J. Griffith, a Canton investigator, and W. E. Greneall of Springfield and James Ruffi of Kent, investigators for the parole board.

Jane Withers To Be Featured In Last Can Matinee

Saucy little Jane Withers comes to the Ohio theater Saturday morning to entertain the boys and girls of Mansfield who will attend the last of the four can matinees for the Christmas baskets.

"Pepper" which is as pert as the little star herself, heads the bill of four pictures which may be seen for the price of one can of food. Two thousand cans of food already have been collected through the can matinees, and these will be distributed to needy families in Christmas baskets.

Besides Jane "Pepper" Withers, Manager Frank Harpster has arranged to give the youngsters three other features, "The Cat In the Bag," a comedy cartoon; "Love Nest On Wheels," a romantic comedy; and a news reel.

The show opens at 9:30 a. m. and will be the last of the can matinees staged for the Community Christmas fund.

An additional 300 cans of food were added to the collection last night when women and children were admitted to the wrestling match at the armory for a can of food.

Up and Down THE STREET

Progress in girl's athletics at the Senior high school during the past six years, is described and illustrated in an article appearing in the December edition of "Health and Physical Education," a magazine published by the American Association for Health and Physical Education. The article was written by Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, director of girls' physical education, at the school.

One of Mansfield's most impressive Christmas displays — a miniature reproduction of the Three Wise Men following the star to the Christ Child in the manger — is attracting considerable attention in a South Park street store window. The picture is realistic even to the cactus plants in the desert sand. A brilliant star and a miniature angel, suspended from tiny cords, hover over the Mother and Child in the manger.

Coach Harry Mehock of Mansfield high school has not returned from the hunt empty-handed this season, but his record was nearly snapped the other day. Hunting all day in the Lakeville vicinity without getting as much as a shot, Mehock started home disappointed. He had not gone more than a few miles when he noticed he had struck something. Stopping, he discovered it was a rabbit, something he hadn't seen all the while he was in the field.

There will be Gerstmeyer sisters at both the courthouse and city building after Jan. 1, when Miss Martha Gerstmeyer becomes common pleas court stenographer to succeed Miss Frances Thull who resigned to be married. DO IT EARLY!

Association Cites Advantages of Morning Gift Shopping.

A plea to Mansfielders to do their Christmas shopping in the morning was sounded today by the Retail Merchants' association.

Morning shoppers, the association pointed out, have a much better opportunity to select and purchase gifts, and can be given more attention by clerks. It added that morning is the best time for parents to take their children to the toylands in the various stores, permitting them to avoid jostling crowds that are in stores during afternon hours. With schools closing Friday, it will be possible to take advantage of the morning hours for this purpose, the association said.

Shopping statistics, according to the association, show that 80 per cent of all retail store sales are made after 11:30 a. m., and that during the holiday season, when store congestion is at a peak, hurried buying results in many cases.

GAS RATES UP IN THREE CITIES

Canton, Warren, Niles Consumers To Pay East Ohio More.

CANTON — (AP) — Canton was prepared today to join Warren, Niles and several other Ohio cities in accepting a higher rate offered by the East Ohio Gas company.

Having given an ordinance accepting the company's offer its first reading council was ready to pass the act at its next meeting Dec. 20. The new schedule provides for a charge of 83 cents for the first 300 cubic feet of gas consumed each month and 50 cents net per 1,000 cubic feet for all over the first 300.

The present rate is 55 cents net for the first 300 and 50 cents net for all over that amount. In effect the new rate provides a flate 28 cents a month increase in the average consumer's gas bill.

SEEK TO SPREAD JAPAN BOYCOTT

Organized Potters Sees U. S. Push Movement to Refrain From Buying Jap Goods.

EAST LIVERPOOL—(AP)—Organized potters of the Ohio-Pennsylvania ceramics district said today they expected their anti-Japanese boycott, spurred by a parade of American Federation of Labor workers, would spread immediately to other labor unions throughout the country.

James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, declared the demonstration made him "feel more confident than in all my 11 years as head of this brotherhood that we are getting somewhere—that labor will take up the movement all over the nation."

William Green, A. F. of L. president who watched the parade and afterward addressed a mass meeting of 1,400 persons, said he was "deeply touched" by the demonstration. He pledged the federation to "make real the boycott against Japan for her barbarous war in China."

A bonfire of cardboard boxes labeled "made in Japan" and "made in Czechoslovakia" signaled the start of the parade, in which police said "easily 3,000" marched. Several more thousand residents of this "crockery city" lined the sidewalks in 10-above-zero temperatures to see the marching potters, bakers, salesmen, butchers, truck drivers and other union members.

Judge Postpones Hearing to Jan. 24 for Warren Man.

WARREN —(AP)— The trial of Gus Hall, former CIO organizer, on a charge of possessing explosives during the steel strike last summer, has been postponed by Judge Dewey McVicker until Jan. 24.

The postponement was asked by Edward Lamb, CIO attorney and counsel for Hall

Seven others arrested on the same charge pleaded guilty last summer. Four were sentenced to Ohio penitentiary and three were released on parole.

CO-EDS FATTEN UP ON FUDGE SUNDAES, NOT FOOD, CLUB SAYS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Stadium-dwelling males of Ohio State university's Tower club ungallantly came out today with an assertion that butterscotch banana splits and not dilatory dietetics were responsible for excess avoirdupois among co-eds living in Neil hall dormitory.

Miss Vera Goldman, Cleveland Heights freshman, recently circulated a petition protesting culinary conditions in the dormitory and presented it to the student senate. She asserted the $1 paid by Neil Hallians for their three daily jousts was too much for value received.

Members of the co-operative Tower club, which occupies one corner under the stadium, differed and pointed with pride to their meals which average 16 cents each and are eagerly devoured every day by 192 ravenous males.

"We really have swell food at the Tower club," asserted Hart F. Page of Midvale, member of four years standing.

Miss Goldman said their meals were anything but swell—"lousy" was the word she used—and asserted that one girl gained between 15 and 20 pounds in one month because of excessive starch in the dormitory menu.

Commented a Tower club member who declined to stick his neck out for publication:

"As good as our food is, several of our boys have taken jobs waiting on table at Neil Hall because of the excellent meals there. (University officials said they were planned by trained dieticians).

"As for the girls gaining weight, they should take into consideration all the hot fudge sundaes and butterscotch banana splits they consume between meals."

Asks Injunction to Block Auto Title Law

ATTORNEY FILES ACTION, HOLDS ACT'S ILLEGAL

Calls on Court to Restrain Officials From Putting Measure In Effect.

Charging the new automobile certificate of title law is unconstitutional, Atty. H. M. Rust of Mansfield, acting as a taxpayer, today had filed an action in common pleas court seeking to restrain Richland county officials from putting the state law in effect here Jan. 1.

The law, known as house bill No. 514, as passed by the legislature last April and will take effect the first of the year. Designed to prevent the importation of stolen cars into the state and fraud in the transfer of automobile titles, the law replaces the usual bill of sale with a certificate of title.

Rust seeks an injunction against eight county officials to prevent them from appropriating and spending the funds necessary to set the machinery of the law in operation. Although considerable opposition to the new law has been voiced in the state, his action is believed the first taken against it.

Rust's eight-page petition asks that Fred R. Zellner, county clerk of courts, in whose office the title certificates will be issued, be restrained from purchasing supplies and employing the additional help which would be required under the new set-up. He also seeks to restrain the county commissioners from appropriating funds for the clerk's office and the auditor and treasurer from paying out the additional amounts for placing the act in operation here.

Rust asks that the court allow him attorney fees and court costs involved in the suit. Filing the action in his own name, he is also represented by Attys. Earl Nist, John C. O'Donnell and H. G. Clark.

Rust obtained an injunction recently against County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and County Treasurer John E. Kalb restraining them from making refunds of delinquent tax penalties and interest under the Ogrin act. In that case he was allowed $200 for counsel fees.

Clerk Would Record Liens.

Under provisions of the act, the clerk will be required to record liens against motor vehicles purchased under a mortgage, collecting 30 cents for noting the lien and another 30 cents when the lien is cancelled. The original certificate of title will cost the dealer 75 cents as compared with 25 cents for the present bill of sale.

The act is contrary to the constitution, the petition states, because it gives the registrar of motor vehicles unrestrained power and the right to cancel without notice any certificate of title. It further "places an arbitrary and unreasonable power in the hands of the clerk of courts and is not subject to any process of a proper judicial tribunal," the suit charges.

Rust also charges discrimination in that "the act requires the dealer of motor vehicles to file and pay for and deliver to the purchaser a certificate of title and to absorb the costs thereof which is not required of other citizens of the state."

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

NOT THE least interesting of recent developments in Washington is the alteration in his general attitude on economic issues by Harry Hopkins, head of the Works Progress Administration and the greatest spender of federal money in all history. It is conservatively estimated that in the last four years more than eight of the 16 billion dollars which the New Deal has expended has been passed out by Hopkins. And he is still spending for work relief upwards of one and a half billion a year.

But his point of view has changed somewhat in the last 12 months There was a time when Hopkins was one of the most ferocious of all the administration denouncers It was he who preached the doctrine to his aids that "this is a fight between the haves and the have nots and the sooner you find it out the better." It was Hopkins, too, who, when Upton inclair ran for governor in California clasped him to his bosom with the glad shout of "He is one of us," or words to that effect. In brief, Hopkins has done quite a little to stir up class feeling in the country. And in the first Roosevelt term he was regarded as one of the most ardent of the more abundant life, advocates, far over on the radical side.

TODAY, by men who have had rather close contact with him, he is not regarded as radical at all. On the contrary, it is reported by those who know best the inside gossip of the palace, that Hopkins's weight is now over on the conservative side. He, with Mr. Kennedy, combats the anti-capitalistic counselors of the president, and he was reported recently as having joined with B. M. Baruch in urging upon Vice President Garner not only budget balancing but tax revision along the lines advocated by such anti-New Dealers as Senator Carter Glass and Lewis W. Douglas.

It was Hopkins who, at one of the confidential White House conferences, we are told by the well-informed Mr. Krock of the New York Times, opposed the two presidential counselors who held that our present system is not worth saving, and wanted the president to "let her slide." Hopkins, it is reported, strongly opposed this notion and Mr. Roosevelt agreed with him.

ASIDE FROM the astonishing fact that the resident of the Uniter States should have among those with whom he confidentially advises on national affairs men who openly advises him to scarp the American system, and should debate that subject with them—aside from that, the position taken by Hopkins is significant. Perhaps an injustice has been done to him, but the general feeling has been that he belonged witht he extreme left wing group for whose company the president has shown such decided preference. Certainly, his utterances and comments have lent substance to that idea. But he is no longer classified in that way The New Dealers, who once regarded him as one of them, are now somewhat caustic in their comments upon the present views of the Works Progress Administration director and the reasons.

IT WOULD BE unfair to imply that because Hopkins now advocates capitalism and is anxious to balance the budget and revise taxes which cripple industry, that his enthusiasm for Mr. Roosevelt is enthusiasm for Mr. Roosevelt is lessened or that he is not sill a tremendously devoted friend and follower. As a matter of fact, what he advocates now is also being advocated by the president. Hopkins is not out of line with his chief; he distinctly is in line. The interesting thing is that he sould seem even more strongly for tese things than the president. tI is interesting because it does not harmonize with what seemed to be his former feeling, but it none the less is a tribute to his intelligence.

* * *

THE TRUTH seems to be that Hopkins has come to a deeper realization that the great problem of unemployment with which he wrestles so expensively can only be solved by enabling business to prosper. Hence, instead, as he was once disposed to do, of condemning industry for not providing more jobs, despite administration hostility and handicaps, he is now anxious to relieve it of crippling burdens so that it can provide the jobs. Whether Hopkins's conversion has been brought about by contact with conservative friends or whether he has recently acquired an economic education or whether it is due solely to his own common sense makes little difference. It is an encouraging sign.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Brian Aherne's theory is that an actor this side of 40 can't contribute much in the way of a performance, because he hasn't learned enough about acting.

Barbara O'Neil (the gracious young mother of "Stella Dallas") offers her own variant on that: "When I'm 30 I'll know enough to be an ingenue."

Twenty-seven now, in "Everybody Was Very Nice," she has Wayne Morris as a 25-year-old son. "Three more years," says she, "and I'll be an ingenue. By that time I'll know enough to play one."

Fame has its perils along with its rewards. Sidney Blackmer was driving east recently to appear in a stage play. On an ice-covered highway near Cambridge, Ohio, his car skidded on the frozen road, did whirligigs, and crashed through a guard railing. Its rear end balanced precariously over a 150-foot ravine

A state highway patrolman stopped his motorcycle and offered aid. Blackmer and the officer were using a long pole as a lever to swing the vehicle back on the pavement again In the midst of the swing the patrolman dropped the pole in surprise. "Aren't you Sidney Blackmer, the actor?"

"Yes," shouted Blackmer, "but grab this lever quick before I'm killed!"

They got the car back, and Blackmer gave his autograph in one suspects, a jittery scrawl.

In "Headline Huntress" Gloria Stuart wears a fox fur coat reputedly valued at $1,500—but she is beginning to have some doubts about it. In a number of scenes she appears with Rex, a tiny mongrel dog. Every time she walks into the scene, Rex leaps for the coat and clamps his teeth on hard.

"I've never been able to break Rex of the urge to hunt rabbits," remarked his master, Henry East —perhaps relevantly, although Gloria isn't sure.

In "Tovarich" the character bit of Alphonse—one of the guests at the dinner party—is responsible for an amusing "running gag." The bit is played by Curt Bois. In Germany, until rather recently, Curt Bois was one of the leading comedians. The usual ancestral reasons sent him to Hollywood.

Michael Whalen has been taking golf lessons, at studio expense, for a picture. He has been taught to swing, but he still considers himself a golfless golfer. Just when the club is supposed to strike the ball they cut to a close-up of another player. When the ball is seen again it's zooming down the fairway.

Add I-mean-it handshakes: Bette Davis's. . .

Don't let it bother you—it doesn't worry Claudette—but watch next time you see her in a picture for one good view of the right side of the Colbert face. You won't find it. She has the notion that the left exposure is her "good camera side"—and in a recent film she had a set rebuilt to avoid making an entrance the other way!

Nominated for most intriguing home-town names: Fergus Falls, Minn. (Frank Albertson's); Squaw Valley, Calif. (Stuart Erwin's); and Wahoo, Neb. (Darryl Zanuck's).

ELYRIA—(U.P.)—A fire which destroyed the Elyria Dry Goods company caused damage estimated today at $125,000. In addition to the property loss at the dry goods store, water damaged stock of the Miller United Shoe company in an adjoining building. The origin of the blaze was not determined.

Relatives Separating Girl, Man

By VIRGINIA LEE

LONESOME doesn't want me to print her letter for fear it will be recognized. She is in love with an older man and his family—consisting of one member only—objects to the match, saying she is too young for the man.

She has tried to go out with others, but can't be happy, and wonders if she went to this relative and had a heart to heart talk, could she win him over?

When this type of opposition develops, Lonesome, you can usually depend upon its being jealousy. The relative with whom your boy friend lives is afraid his life will be upset if he encourages the match. That would be my guess. There is a good deal of difference in your ages, of course, but as you seem always to have preferred the company of older people, I imagine that need not be a bar to your happiness.

You might try the "heart to heart" talk with this relative. If he knew you better he might change his mind. He would if his objection to you was disinterested. He could be won over. If, however, as I think, he does not want to lose the young man's companionship, it would do no good unless you would promise to keep him in the family. He would object no matter whom the girl friend might be.

However, as your friend has been going with you for so long and does not defend you and tell this relative "where to get off," as they say, I don't believe he would make a very strong and satisfactory husband. After all, if a man really cares a great deal about a woman he stands up for her before the world, doesn't he? He doesn't seem much of a man to me if he doesn't.

I'm sorry about your trouble, Lonesome, and I think it would be a good idea to tackle this hard-hearted relative. If, however, your friend is going to let you get away from him just because of these objections I cannot help feeling that his love isn't very deep.

LONESOME is lonely because her boy friend is away and won't be back until summer. Sometimes her sister asks her to go out with her but Lonesome feels sister would rather go alone. Friends tell her not to stay at home and wait for her boy friend, as she is young and should be having her fun. But Lonesome says she isn't happy going out and prefers to be true to her sweeties.

You can go out with other girls, I suppose, Lonesome, and not just sit at home and be lonesome. You can be as true as true to your lover and still have a good time and be a happy girl, can't you?

Hyacinth bulbs are easily cultivated in water. Buy hyacinth vases, put bulbs in them and bring water up so it covers just the base of the bulb. Leave it that way eight or 10 weeks in a cool dark room or cellar. The roots develop in that period. Then bring it out into the open.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DOUBT YOUR EYES

It is pretty hard to believe your eyes sometimes, especially when playing contract bridge. All of the fine card-reading in the world, based upon the idea that sound bids have been made by the other players, can go askew if someone has made a crazy call not warranted by his holding.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

At one table in a recent duplicate tournament where this deal arose, the South player, using the Vanderbilt club, opened with 1-Club, to which North responded with 2-Diamonds. South then jumped into 3-No Trumps without endeavoring to discover just where the high cards shown by his partner were located. He figured, from his own holding, that the spades were stopped in the North hand, but in bidding so hastily he not only was defeated at this contract, but missed a chance to get a diamond slam.

When West led the spade 7 against the 3-No Trumps contract, East put on the queen. When it held, East was quite sure that South had the A-J and that his partner led from the top of nothing, as four cards higher than the seven were in sight and for the no trump bid South surely had an honor or two in the suit. However, after due reflection, East decided that there was no other desirable return and that his king was spotted in any event, so he laid down his spade K. When South showed out surprise was registered by North and glee by the defenders. West took no chance of his partner again leading the suit, but overtook the king with the ace and ran six tricks.

Net Solves Problem of Mussed Hair

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

PATIENCE may, as the old adage puts it, be a virtue. But it certainly is one that is seldom found among the people on this side of the Atlantic and Pacific. Most American women, for instance, raise a terrific squawk if they are forced to wait a short time in order to be attended in a beauty shop. But I wonder what these impatient damsels would do if they had to wait three hours for service.

According to a well-known author and traveler, that's what women often have to do over in China. Not at present, of course, for war-torn China has more important things to think about than coiffure perfection, but in times of peace, that three-hour wait is a frequent occurrence.

As a rule, when a Chinese lass goes to a beauty shop to have her hair arranged, the job takes hours to complete, and the other patrons must wait their turn. But when the hair once is arranged, it is kept in that form for days. Indeed, Chinese girls even sleep on wooden bolsters, in order that their coiffures do not become disarranged!

Of course, the average lass who loves comfort wouldn't think of sleeping on a wooden excuse for a pillow just for the sake of her coiffure. But there are occasions, nevertheless, when girls wish their hair would retain the freshly-groomed appearance that it possesses when they first leave the beauty shops!

The busy young lass who spends much of her afternoons out of doors is the one who usually has the most difficulty in keeping her tresses perfectly arranged, for the tiny hats that are in vogue this season don't do much to protect the hair. And the brisk winter breezes are inclined to ruffle the hair and disarrange the ordered smoothness of the coiffure.

An evening coiffure naturally demands that waves and ringlets be perfect. But you can't go motoring or hiking, or view a grand football game these crisp, breezy days, without having your coiffure become a bit ruffled and disordered. However, I've found that the perfect remedy for that hair worry is one of those old-fashioned hair nets that constituted so important a part of the coiffures of granny's day.

Try Using Net.

If you have a big date wih your favorite college beau—or any favorite beau—in the evening, and intend going out to a game in the afternoon, too, in order to see those college lads do their stuff for dear old Alma Mater, try using a hair net in order to keep your hair perfectly coiffured.

First insert a few hairpins in your waves and ringlets to help hold them correctly in place. Then place the net over your head and pin it securely but not too tightly. And make sure that you procure a net that is the same shade as your hair, so that it will not be obvious. You'll find that this will keep your waves and ringlets in perfect shape for evening display, yet will not detract in the least from the attractiveness of your coiffure during the afternoon.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I HEARD a choking noise at the other end of the long distance telephone wire as I told Philip Veritzen that I really didn't think it was "my place" to bother him about so trivial a thing as the accident to the clutch of Noel's car. With unholy glee, I knew that the exasperated theatrical producer was tearing his collar loose so that he might breathe more freely in his anger.

"Trivial!" he repeated. "Trivial!"

Then he "remembered his manner" and pulled himself together.

"I beg your pardon, I am sure," he said, "but this delay has upset me exceedingly. It is most vital that Noel get here tomorrow. Is it true that you have no idea where Noel and Mary are?"

"No idea whatever," I returned resolutely.

Veritzen Suspicious.

"But, according to the account you have just given me, Mary and Noel expected the car to be done tonight. Why did they not return to get it?"

"I am afraid I am to blame there," I said with mock contrition. "They telephoned a little while ago, and I told them about the car. They were having so marvelous a time visiting all their old haunts in one of our cars—sentimental journeys, you know, reminiscences of their courtship, I gathered—that I told them to keep on going and not to bother to come back until the car should be finished. They were so excited that they didn't tell me where they were going next, and I forgot to ask them. Noel said he must notify you and I told him I would attend to it. I was just concocting a night letter to you when you called."

"Would it trouble you too much to give my son a message if by any chance he should call you up again?"

Gives Message.

"No, indeed," I said cordially. "I shall be only too glad to give him a message from you."

"Then tell him that immediately upon receiving my message, he is to return here by the quickest possible method of transportation, plane, train, motor, or all three combined. He is not to bother with the car. I will get him another one. Let Mary use it. He needs a new small car up here anyway."

Recognizes Barb.

I recognized the intended barb in that speech, and clenched my fist involuntarily. He meant me to know and hoped that I would relay the knowledge to Mary that the new car would be for Noel's use in escorting Princess Olina around the beautiful New Hampshire hills.

"Mary will be delighted with the car, I know, and if Noel calls, I will give him your message at once," I said.

"Well!" I drawled, trying to infuse just the right amount of amused tolerance into my voice "you know what young people are especially two who are as much in love as are Noel and Mary. They are not likely to think of anybody but themselves. And I don't think Noel had any conception of how terribly you needed him. I am sure he would have telephoned you at once if he had known."

Will Trace Noel.

"He should have known." Noel's father permitted himself that childish plaint. "When did you say that car will be done? They intend to return then, I gathered from what you said."

"Oh yes,55 I caroled, "they said they would be back tomorrow night. The car will be delivered then, and Noel will start the next morning at daylight."

"Then that will have to do," Mr. Veritzen said, "but in the meantime I shall try my best to trace Noel's whereabouts. Permit me to thank you so much for your courtesy and your interest. Good night."

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, December 15.

A DAY OF high pressure and excitement is forecast from the ruling lunar aspects. However, certain benefits may be nullified by impetuosity, bad temper and hasty and restless acts. New projects, particularly in connection with combines, mergers, diplomatic, political or secret societies, are favored, mainly through strategy or subtle understaindings. Sudden news should stir energy and ambition, and private affiliations should bring happiness.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively year, with news from a distance as the inspiration. But refrain from haste and reckless, impetuous, quarrelsome activities. Deal with mergers, secret bodies or political or diplomatic circles, or by subtle rather than direct measures. Happiness in the home is promised.

A child born on this day may be lively, energetic and constructive, but it may be carried away by impulse, strife, jealousy or stubbornness. But it should be personally kindly and approachable. It may lean toward sports and athletics.
